INDICTED FINNEGAN SURRENDERS HERE TO U.S. MARSHAL ON BRIBE CHARGES

Judge Moore Disqualifies Himself—Former Revenue Collector Fingerprinted — $5000 Bond Arranged.

James P. Finnegan, former St. Louis collector of internal revenue, surrendered today to United States Marshal Otto Schoen on a federal indictment charging him with accepting bribes and with other misconduct in office.

He was met in the Federal Building, where he had had his office for seven years, by his attorney, David M. Robinson. The lawyer and client then went to Schoen's office, where Finnegan's fingerprints were taken by Deputy Marshal Les Davison.

Dressed in a natty light brown business suit and brown fedora, Finnegan next went to the office of United States Commissioner Edwin J. Bean where he signed a $5000 bond. Surety on the bond was Joseph Webbe, professional bondsman, who told reporters he declined to accept a fee.

Arraignment Monday.

The bond is returnable Monday when Finnegan is scheduled to be arraigned in Courtroom No. 1, presided over by United States District Judge George H. Moore.

Judge Moore, whose vigorous charges to the grand jury resulted in the investigation that led to the indictment, acted yesterday to disqualify himself as trial judge in Finnegan's case.

In his order certifying the matter to Chief Judge Archibald K. Gardner of the United States Court of Appeals for assignment of a new judge to the case, Judge Moore gave no reason for the disqualification and declined to comment on the order afterwards. It is believed, however, that his strong efforts in pressing for a grand jury investigation of the collector's office may have influenced his decision to step aside.

As a result of Judge Moore's disqualification, it is uncertain whether Finnegan will enter a plea to the indictment Monday or whether the arraignment will be continued until Judge Gardner assigns a different judge to the case.

Apparently undaunted by the circumstances, Finnegan posed smilingly for photographers and exchanged pleasantries with acquaintances and friends in the building. He would not comment on the case until he had had an opportunity to confer with his attorney, but on his return to his home yesterday he had said that subsequent proceedings would prove him innocent of any wrongdoing.

Finnegan Returns.

Finnegan returned late yesterday afternoon by automobile from Washington where he has been a key witness in hearings by the House Ways and Means subcommittee investigating irregularities in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

On arriving at his home, 6230 Delor street, the former collector telephone Marshal Schoen and arranged to surrender formally today.

The two bribery counts charged that Finnegan accepted two $250 checks from Karol Kell Garments, Inc., a manufacturing firm now out of business in return for lenient treatment in connection with the company's tax liability.

He was also charged in three counts with accepting compensation for services rendered in connection with matters to which the United States was a party. Specifically, he was accused of accepting $3000 from American Lithofold Corp., a St. Louis printing concern; $5000 from the Warwick Hotel operators in a damage claim against the United States, and $641 in furniture from Karol Kell for assistance in efforts of

AIR BASE OFFICER STOPS BLAZE AS FIREMEN PARADE

While fire trucks and expert firefighters were making an impressive display in a parade at Scott Air Force Base yesterday, a public information officer put out a fire in a nearby building, unassisted.

As base officers watched the parade from windows in Yount Hall, headquarters for the Air Training Command, Capt. Stratton Appleman detected the odor of smoke.

He investigated, found rags burning in the attic and promptly stomped out the blaze. A few moments later the base fire department arrived, but by then Capt. Appleman had everything under control.

ROUTS PROWLER, GOES FOR A DRINK, FINDS HIM THERE

MENLO PARK, Calif., Oct. 13 (AP)—Ernest Kent was calming his nerves at a corner bar. He had just done battle with a prowler who had entered the Kent home via a bedroom window.

Kent had won the encounter, the prowler fleeing under Kent's fistic attack.

Kent swiveled on his bar stool to tell the bar customer next to him of the encounter. Instead, he calmly sauntered to a telephone.

Police answered his phone call posthaste and arrested the next-stool occupant. Kent identified the man as the prowler from wounds he had inflicted.

Robert Emmett Doyle of Redwood City, Calif., was booked for investigation, vagrancy and being drunk. Kent, his nerves calmed, finished his drink and went home.

JET PILOT STREAKS IN AT 70 M.P.H. IN ANTIQUE AIR JALOPY

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 13 (AP)—An Air Force major and his 80-pound dog landed at the Municipal Airport yesterday in a plane that looked as if it had been built by Rube Goldberg and Orville Wright.

Maj. Ewell K. Nold, 31 years old, and his Alaskan mongrel, Towreel, are flying from Camden, N. J., to El Salvador in a reconditioned, 25-horsepower Savoia Marchetti that was built in 1931.

The arrival of the open-cockpit antique caused more stir among the field mechanics and pilots than if Maj. Nold had buzzed in flying one of the jet B-47s he flies while on duty.

Starting from Camden Tuesday, the major, who is accustomed to idling along at 600 miles an hour, streaked down to Houston with an average speed of around 70 miles an hour.

"Coming into New Orleans," he said, "the gas feed fouled up and I had to make a forced landing on Lake Pontchartrain—with the wheels down. We hit the water about 100 yards from shore and nosed under. Towreel was out of the plane and swimming almost before we struck the water. The plane, of course, was swamped and all my clothes soaked, but we stayed afloat and drifted in."

SUBCOMMITTEE URGES PAY RISE FOR ALL SERVICES

House Group Approves 10 Per Cent Cost of Living Increase for All Military Grades.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—A Houes Armed Services subcommittee has approved a bill to increase the pay of everyone in the military services by 10 per cent. Only two members were present for the action yesterday, but there was no indication of a fight.

The measure, however, has only a slim chance of adoption at this session of Congress. The Senate Armed Services Committee has said it will defer action until January.

The bill, described as a "cost of living" measure, was requested by the Defense Department.

As originally drawn it would have put a limit of $800 a year on the increases, cutting higher paid officers below the 10 per cent. The House subcommittee knocked this out.

Increases for Retired, Too.

Under the $800 limit plan generals and admirals would have received only a 5 per cent increase, colonels and some lieutenant colonels with long service only between 7 and 8 per cent. The 10 per cent boost under the bill as amended would be extended to all retired personnel.

The increase would become effective the first day of the month after enactment. The subcommittee opposed retroactivity to July 1.

Chairman Kilday (Dem.), Texas, of the subcommittee said that whether action will be taken by the full committee this session is up to its chairman, Representative Vinson (Dem.), Georgia. Vinson is out of town but is expected back Monday.

Approved by Members.

Only two members, Kilday and Representative Price (Dem.), East St. Louis, Ill., were present at the subcommittee session, but since no point of no quorum was raised the two decided to stamp their approval on the measure and contact other members of the subcommittee.

The committee acted after hearing testimony yesterday from a Chicago banker and industrialist in favor of a straight 10 per cent boost. The witness was Lawrence Whiting, a member of the commission that worked out the present pay scale.

RED JET IN VAIN TRIES TO HIT U.S. SHIP OFF KOREA

TOKYO, Oct. 13 (UP)—An unidentified but presumably Communist jet plane tried unsuccessfully to bomb and strafe the United States destroyer Twining off the Korean east coast Friday, the United States Navy reported today.

The plane dropped two small bombs through an overcast and made several strafing runs, but failed to hit the 2050-ton warship.

The incident occurred north of Kojo, about 65 miles north of the thirty-eighth parallel, the farthest south Communist jet planes have been reported. It also is the first time enemy jets have been reported in action off the east coast.

Stores Should Mind Floors Now That Mom Is Buyer, Court Rules

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 13 (AP)—Since Mom has become the family purchasing agent, stores should provide her with more protection than was necessary when Pop purchased the groceries.

This reasoning was reached by the Florida Supreme Court yesterday as it upheld, in a 4-to-3 decision, a lower court award to Mrs. Mayme de Feo of $15,000 and $4500 to her husband.

The De Feos sued Carl's Market in Miami for damages after Mrs. De Feo charged she slipped on a green bean and was seriously injured. They contended the market had failed to exercise reasonable care.

The court's majority opinion said today's modern supermarket is entirely different from the old stores where "the floors were of rough boards. Pop purchased the family groceries and wore soles that did not turn easily."

When Mom took over the shopping, it added, "she came in straps, pumps and high heels that turn readily on a composition floor if a bean or other inducement is dropped in the way."

WEST AND TURKEY INVITE EGYPT TO JOIN MIDDLE EAST DEFENSE SETUP

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Egypt was invited today to join with the Western powers and Turkey in setting up an international force for Middle East defense. A main base would be the Suez, now in bitter dispute between Britain and Egypt.

This was the diplomatic follow-up to Egypt's threat to outlaw the British guardian forces in the Suez canal area and Britain's vow to fight if Egypt tries to remove British treaty-covered troops by force.

The American-British-French-Turkish defense plan inviting Egypt to join was presented to Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed Salah el Din at Alexandria, near the Mediterranean end of the Suez, by the ambassadors of the four countries. Initial Egyptian reaction was chilly.

Bradley Now in Turkey.

Sources here indicated that if Egypt accepts, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff; Field Marshal Sir William Slim, chief of the British imperial general staff, and French Gen. Charles Francis Lechere, were prepared to fly to Egypt for talks. They now are in Ankara, Turkey, discussing the whole program.

The proposed defense program is aimed specifically at the Suez and would supersede much of the British-Egyptian treaty of alliance. Egypt has announced it is junking that pact and that the British will have to get out.

The treaty signed in 1936 for a 20-year, renewable term also covers the joint administration of Britain and Egypt over the Sudan. This million-square-mile area lies south of Egypt and reaches to the mid-African headwaters of the White Nile, life-line of Egypt. The Egyptians are declaring it annexed to the realm of King Farouk.

New Proposals on Sudan.

As part of the new deal offered to Egypt, Britain also has made fresh proposals on the future of the Sudan. But informed sources emphasized Britain did not regard settlement of the Middle East defense problem as hinging on the Anglo-Egyptian agreement on the Sudan.

These sources gave this general outline of the two proposals:

The United States, Britain, France and Turkey ask Egypt to become a founder-member of a Middle East security group. Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, with vital interests in sea routes through the Middle East area, would join in any defense measures.

If Egypt accepts the defense plan, representatives of the five nations immediately involved would work out a detailed organization for a Middle East command.

The five-nation group would decide on the bases and facilities needed and the size and nature of forces used. Britain's contribution to the international force would be decided on by the five founder nations.

Britain would hand over to Egypt its present bases along the Suez Canal if those bases were put at the disposal of an international force. The Suez Canal area is regarded as the most logical place for headquarters.

After an international force is agreed on, Britain would withdraw any of its forces not incorporated into the new group.

Plan Also Sent to Sudanese.

As the new Middle East command structure and international force came into being, Britain would give up any rights now held under the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty.

Britain's new proposals on the Sudan were delivered to the Egyptian Government at Alexandria by Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson and were sent to leaders of the Sudanese political parties in Khartoum, the capital.

They were reported based on three principles:

1. There should be no change in the Sudan's status without consultation with the Sudanese people.

2. The Sudanese should have freedom of choice on their future status.

3. Provision should be made to accelerate the Sudan's independence.

New British Warning.

Britain's decision to meet force with force if the Egyptians try to throw the British troops out of the Suez, still stood.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison said last night the British won't attack "but if somebody else does start, then our people will defend themselves and the government will support them in doing so."

The pledge, at an election campaign rally in the London suburb of Staines, brought cheers from the crowd that heard it.

Egypt, Morrison said, "has no right unilaterally to bring that treaty to an end, and she cannot do it. I am not going to submit."

The Egyptian Parliament is speeding the passage of laws to carry out the treaty denunciation. The whole Moslem world, from Morocco to Indonesia, supports Egypt. The militant Moslem Brotherhood, an Egyptian politico-religious organization claiming 2,000,000 members, is even demanding a "holy war" to throw the British out.

U.N. INFANTRY GAINS ON TWO FRONTS AS FIGHTING FLARES ACROSS KOREA; LIAISON TEAMS MEET AGAIN TONIGHT

ALLIED OFFICERS INVESTIGATE REDS' LATEST CHARGE OF TRUCE VIOLATION

Boy, 15, Says Bullets From U.N. Planes Struck His Brothers, Killing One—Evidence Being Weighed.

By NATE POLOWETZKY

MUNSAN, Korea, Oct. 13 (AP)—Liaison officers will meet again Sunday in dusty little Panmunjom in another effort to get the stalled Korean armistice talks rolling again.

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. (7 p.m. Saturday St. Louis time).

Negotiations were interrupted by a Red complaint that three United Nations warplanes strafed the fringe of the Kaesong neutrality zone Friday, killing a 12-year-old boy and wounding his 2-year-old brother. U.N. liaison officers investigated.

Had Neared Agreement.

The Reds and the Allies were nearing agreement on administrative differences holding up resumption of full-dress armistice talks when the Communists made the complaint. The Reds broke off the talks in Kaesong Aug. 23, charging that Allied planes had bombed the zone the day before in an attempt to murder the Red armistice delegation.

A 15-year-old Korean boy told U.N. investigators Saturday that bullets from strafing Allied warplanes struck his two younger brothers when they were fishing on Friday.

Correspondent Robert C. Tuckman, who accompanied the U.N. liaison officers in their investigation of the Red complaint, said "correspondents at Panmunjom generally felt the Communists had presented enough tangible evidence to back up their case—although there still were enough unknown factors to make a clear-cut opinion impossible."

Evidence Being Weighed.

A U.N. spokesman said the evidence was being studied and evaluated. The Allied findings, probably will be announced by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo.

The Communists, meanwhile, went ahead with their preparations for the resumption of negotiations. They put up three more tents at Panmunjom, presumably to be used by the Red delegates and their staff.

They are about 200 yards north of the large conference tent set up earlier this week. It has been used by liaison officers in their discussions.

The U.N. command has erected one tent and will bring in more when needed.

The main conference tent put up by the Reds is 36 feet long and 21 wide. Inside are five rectangular tables, each covered with green baize material.

The main table in the center has seven chairs lined up on each side.

Boy's Father Appears.

The investigation Saturday was made more dramatic by the appearance of the dead boy's father. The bearded, elderly farmer hurled bitter remarks at Allied officers and interpreters.

U.N. officers said he had been coached. They said in the preliminary investigation Friday

A-BOMB TESTS NEAR IN NEVADA, ARMY TIGHTENS SECURITY

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 13 (AP)—While the Army tacked up "Don't talk" signs in saloons and gambling halls, this town buzzed with excitement and speculation today over the forthcoming atom bomb tests in the Nevada badlands.

Already the Civil Aeronautics Authority has issued warnings to pilots contemplating flights within a 200-mile radius of Los Vegas. In Carson City yesterday, top Atomic Energy Commission officials spent 90 minutes in conference with the Governor of Nevada.

With the day of the blast obviously drawing near, Army intelligence tightened up its security network in an attempt to prevent the spread of rumors, founded or otherwise.

To guard against security leaks by any of the 5000 troops from Camp Desert Rock, the Army posted notices in bars and other public places. "Whistle while you work—but don't talk. The enemy may be listening," the signs read.

All this preparation was the harbinger of history's first atomic war games, confidently expected in this city of odds-makers to occur early next week. About 1000 soldiers will participate in the test.

U.S. Has Top-of-World Air Base; Could Hit All of Russia From It

Greenland Airfield Has Runway at Least 10,000 Feet Long and Capable of Handling Jet Bombers.

By C. B. ALLEN
The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—A secretly built air base on the northwestern tip of Greenland, from which atomic bombing attacks could be launched against any major target in Russia if that nation should embark on war in Europe, is nearing completion for the United States Air Force, it was learned yesterday.

The base will be placed in operation this fall by the intercontinental Strategic Air Command of Lt. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay.

Situated at Thule, deep inside the Arctic circle, in Danish-owned Greenland, the base is intended to pose a powerful new transpolar deterrent to Communist aggression in Europe. Not only will it put America's jet atomic bombers within Western Hemisphere striking range of every major military target in Europe, but it also could serve as a springboard for attacks against Alaska if that territory ever should fall into enemy hands.

Facilities at the new Arctic base include a hard-surfaced runway at least 10,000 feet long and capable of handling either the Air Force's 600-mile-an-hour Boeing B-47 jet bombers or its larger and long-range Consolidated Vultee B-36s. While neither of these types is expected to be based permanently at Thule, the new airport is equipped with storage and maintenance hangars for a sizable guard force of jet fighters to insure that bombers, landing there to refuel on routine training missions or in actual warfare across the top of the world, meet no interference.

Thule was picked as the site because of its commanding strategic position in what the Air Force calls the "polar concept" of American defense and because of its good climatic and geographic features.

The terrain is low and flat, making for ideal air approaches. In addition, the area is an Arctic desert, the average precipitation being only four inches a year, so

FIFTH AIR FORCE LOSES 10 PLANES, ONE A JET, IN WEEK

TOKYO, Oct. 13 (AP)—The United States Fifth Air Force said today it lost 10 fighter planes, one of them an F-86 Sabre jet, in Korea in the week ended yesterday.

The Sabre jet was shot down, in a clash with Russian-type MIG-15 jets over northwest Korea. The pilot was rescued.

The other nine planes were lost to Communist ground fire.

Fifth Air Force jets tangled with MIG-15s on three days during the period, the Air Force said. The Allied pilots reported they destroyed one MIG, probably destroyed two and damaged 12.

The Air Force said its fighters and bombers flew 4870 sorties in the week.

It reported pilots destroyed 1967 vehicles, 112 rail cars and two locomotives; damaged 136 rail cars and three locomotives; cut rail lines in 600 places; damaged 10 tunnels; destroyed or damaged 15 rail bridges and 58 road bridges; destroyed or damaged 900 supply buildings, 92 gun positions and four tanks.

LITTLE BLACK SAMBO ATTACKED AS BAD FOR RACE RELATIONS

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—Is Little Black Sambo a hero to children? Or does his story harm race relations?

The Rochester branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has asked Rochester schools to throw out the children's book. The group says Sambo is "not good for human relations and democratic principles."

School Superintendent James M. Spinning says he has found Sambo to be a "sort of hero" to children, but says he will give "utmost heed" to the request if the book is found harmful to race relations.

Written 52 years ago by Helen Bannerman, the story tells how Sambo gave his clothes to three jungle tigers so they wouldn't eat him. Then the Tigers fought among themselves until they were reduced to a mound of butter, which Sambo's father, Black Jumbo, took home for pancakes.

283-CARAT DIAMOND WORTH $420,000 FOUND IN AFRICA

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Oct. 13 (UP)—A diamond weighing 283 carats and valued at about £150,000 ($420,000) has been found in the Old Premier mine near Pretoria, it was announced today.

The diamond measures 2 1-12 inches by 1⅝ inches.

The Great Mogul diamond weighed 787 carats in the rough and 280 after being cut, according to published accounts.

TANKS, ARTILLERY SUPPORT DRIVE; 3 DIVISIONS MOVE UP NEARLY 2 MILES

By JOHN RANDOLPH

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Oct. 13 (AP)—United Nations infantry supported by tanks and artillery gouged out new gains on the western and central Korean fronts today as fighting flared with renewed savagery across Korea.

The United States Twenty-fourth division and two South Korean divisions gained up to nearly two miles along a 22-mile front in the center.

Allied artillery laid down a day-long rain of high explosives on Chinese Communist positions above Yonchon in the west. United State First Cavalry troopers moved unopposed onto a hill forming the eastern flank of a vital ridgeline scarred by four days of fighting.

Battalion Cut Up.

One battalion of the cavalry was badly cut up in bitter fighting Friday.

American and French troops on Heartbreak Ridge in eastern Korea scorched the last Reds out of their suicide bunkers on the slopes of the ridgeline's northernmost peak. The peak, Hill 851, was captured Friday. Allied officers said the mopping up action was among the bitterest fights of the war.

Most of Heartbreak was in U.N. hands, but Reds threw U.N. troops off one height Friday. An Eighth Army briefing officer said the ridge could not yet be called completely secured.

A captured Red officer on the eastern front said the North Korean army—the one that started the war nearly 16 months ago—now was "practically non-existent." He credited the deadly U.N. artillery barrages with shattering the North Korean forces.

Reports 2000 Casualties.

Another captured Red officer said his division of 4000 men had suffered 2000 casualties in the month-old battle of Heartbreak Ridge and had been sent only 500 replacements.

Six "flying boxcars" Friday braved intense enemy ground fire in dropping badly needed supplies to U.N. troops fighting in the rugged eastern Korean hills.

Two crewmen were wounded when the planes were hit by ground fire. The Fifth Air Force said all planes returned to base safe.

Tanks supporting infantry on the slopes of the hills Friday thrust up a valley west of Heartbreak. They ran into Red bazookas and anti-tank guns and had to turn back.

American Sabre jets patrolled Mig Alley in northwest Korea but drew no challenge from Russian-made Mig jets. Fifth Air Force warplanes pounded Red road and rail lines.

The central front drive was led by tanks and supported by artillery barrages. The Allies were threatening the Reds' main supply area and headquarters for eastern and central Korea.

Red Resistance Moderate.

Driving toward Kumsong, the United States Twenty-fourth and South Korean Second and Sixth divisions met only moderate Chinese Red resistance at the start.

The attack opened at dawn Kumsong is a vital road and rail center 29 miles north of parallel 38. It is on one of the main rail arteries to the central front coursing northeast from Seoul through Uijongbu, Yonchon, Chorwon and Kumhwa.

Farther to the west the cavalrymen were on the move again after a disastrous day Friday. A battalion of the Seventh Regiment—Gen. Custer's old outfit—was shattered and cut to pieces by waves of attacking Reds west of Yongchon.

Some Are Rescued.

Remnants of the battalion were rescued, but only after some ground was lost.

The defeat served to halt the First Cavalry's push both west and northwest of Yonchon.

Waves of Chinese fell on the understrength battalion before dawn. Units of the rescuing Eighth Cavalry Regiment arrived on the scene shortly before 10 a.m. By early afternoon, the battalion's surviving remnants and the rescue units had made an organized withdrawal.

The cavalry troops captured a quantity of small arms on the ridgeline. Previously the Reds had fought for every inch of ground in that area.

Blasts Occur As Group Finishes Trial of Officers Accused of Revolt Last Month.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 13 (UP)—Police reported that powerful bomb explosions occurred early today at the headquarters of the Argentine Supreme War Council and at the home of the council's president, Gen. Francisco Reynolds. They said there were no casualties.

Police in the suburb of Palermo said the blasts caused some damage.

Two bombs exploded at 2:30 a.m. The council had just finished trying chiefs and officers of the armed forces who supported retired Gen. Benjamin Menendez in the abortive revolt of Sept. 28.

Attempt to Assassinate Venezuela's Rulers Reported Foiled.

CARACAS, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Venezulean Government announced today that "terrorist elements" of the outlawed Accion Democratica, aided by Communists, attempted to assassinate the ruling military junta last night.

A communique said an unreported number of terorists threw a bomb at the country's rulers as they were leaving official ceremonies at the Plaza de Colon (Columbus Plaza). It said the military police foiled the attempt. One report said 80 persons were arrested.

The communique said other terrorists seized government buildings in the towns of Rio Caribe, Tunapuicito and Caucedo but soon lost control of them. It said two persons were killed and one wounded.

(International News Service reported four persons were killed and an undisclosed number wounded and arrested in the rebellion which flared principally in Caracas and Sucre province.

(Censorship has been applied to both incoming and outgoing messages in Venezuela almost since the time the junta took power.)

The members of the junta are German Suarez Flamerich, Lt. Col. Marcos Perez Jimenez and Lt. Col. Luis Felipe Llovera Paez.

In the 1946 elections the leftist Accion Democratica party led by Romulo Gallegos scored an overwhelming victory but in a lightning coup two years later, the army seized power and set up the junta. Accion Democratica was dissolved by decree Dec. 9, 1948.

Heiress Giving Up 190-Room Castle Because of the High Cost of Dying

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—A 28-year-old heiress is giving up her 190-room marble castle in Wales because of the high cost of dying in Britain.

Lady Janet Harper agreed yesterday to turn over to the National Trust, which acts as government caretaker for some of the country's historic homes, her 104-year-old Penrhyn castle in part payment of inheritance taxes.

She inherited the massive marble mansion in 1949 upon the death of her uncle, the fourth Lord Penrhyn.

With it came 40,000 acres of agricultural and forest land in North Wales, a slate quarry employing 1200 persons, a seven-mile railway linking the quarry with Port Penrhyn, dozens of farms—and a financial headache.

Death duties (inheritance tax) on the estate amounted to about £528,500 ($1,479,800).

So Lady Janet is giving the government the castle and land in lieu of £365,000 ($1,022,000) payable against the death tax. She is keeping the quarry.

Penrhyn castle is the largest lump of property to be taken over by the National Trust, which now controls 12 huge homes sold by families to pay death duties.

The castle will be opened to the public as a tourist attraction next spring.

AMERICA'S ALLIES MAINTAINING BUT NOT INCREASING FORCES IN KOREA

No Nations Added to U.N. Battle Order Since June, Despite U.S. Appeal for Reinforcements.

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, Oct. 13 (AP) — United Nations members with troops in the line alongside United States forces in Korea are keeping up the strength of their units by continual rotation and replacement, a survey showed today.

But there is no indication of any general response to the United States plea in June—just before the first anniversary of the Korean conflict—that members step up their ground-force contributions to the U. N. army in Korea.

There have been off and on armistice talks since then but the U.N. forces have attempted to strengthen their position in the face of Red Korean and Red Chinese buildups.

Ernest Gross, United States deputy representative in the U.N., pointed that up in June.

"There is a real need for additional forces from member states in the light of massive Chinese Communist concentrations in the area and of their continuing aggression," he wrote in a letter to U.N. Secretary General Trygve Lie.

No New Forces Since June.

Pentagon officials decline to discuss the size of troop units in the field, but U.N. officials confirm that there have been no new countries added to the lineup since June. Official sources in U.N. member delegations also confirmed that their war departments are sending out reinforcements and replacements continually, but that there has been no sharp increase in the size of their forces.

This is the general lineup today:

The United States Eighth Army, with infantry divisions and numerous attached artillery battalions, the Fifth Air Force and the Seventh Fleet make up the major share of the U.N. order of battle—more than half the whole U.N. command.

The Republic of Korea had about 250,000 men in uniform in June, many of them going through a retraining program in southern Korea. A number of Korean officer candidates were nearing graduation in courses in the United States. When they return to Korea, there will be South Korean-officered and manned units to go back into the line.

British Strength.

The British have 15,000 men in their own ground units, another 10,000 engaged in naval and air units, and two squadrons of flying boats running patrols over the war area.

The British suffered heavily in the Red offensive last May and the First Battalion of the Leicestershire Regiment has gone out to serve as replacements.

The newly-formed Commonwealth Division is composed of about 8000 British troops and 10,000 Australians, Canadians and New Zealanders.

The Canadians, with about 7500 men in line, have just sent out the second company of the Princess Pats First Battalion to relieve Second Battalion men. But the air ferry service set up by Canada early in the conflict has gone on a less frequent schedule, the base has been moved back from the west coast to Montreal, and most of the R.C.A.F. effort is now centered on moving power to European bases.

Another Aussie Battalion.

Australia, besides maintaining 2000 Aussies in the Commonwealth Division, is sending out another full battalion to supplement the battalion that has been serving. This brings to some 5500 the number of Australian personnel in the U.N. action in Korea, counting naval and air force contributions.

The Australians have ordered their fleet flagship, the aircraft carrier Sydney, into Korean waters. Two destroyers, a fighter squadron, an air communications unit, and base and upkeep personnel are also figured in the total.

Others in the field and keeping close to the figure they've had for the last year by rotation and replacement include:

France, a battalion of about 1100 men.

Colombia, an infantry battalion of more than 1000, and one gunboat.

Ethiopia, a battalion of more than 1000 men.

Filipino Force of 1200.

Philippines, infantry and tank forces of about 1200.

Thailand, a regimental combat team of about 1200 and two naval vessels.

The U.N. lists a Cuban offer of 1000 ground troops as accepted last summer but the Cuban delegation said that the men have never been sent out.

India, Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Italy have hospital and ambulance units in the field.

ATOMIC SUBMARINE'S POSSIBILITIES STRESSED

Vessel May Be America's 'Strong Arm' of the Future Says Navy Publication.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Navy told its sailors today they should begin thinking now about the atomic-powered submarine fleet of the future because some of them may be in that service.

The service publication All Hands said the undersea fleet might become "Uncle Sam's strong arm of the future." It added:

"With atomic energy in the engine room, guided missiles in hangars to topside, and the target-seeking homing weapons in the torpedo tubes, the submarine of the future figures to be the instrument of war most benefited by atomic era science."

Work is "progressing rapidly" toward development of a $25,000,000 nuclear engine at two laboratories, the publication said, and a contract has been issued for construction of a hull. Two atomic engine types are under study—a pile using slow-speed neutrons to develop heat which, using water and steam, will drive turbines, and an atomic heating plant using higher speed neutron and a "liquid" metal for heat transfer to power instead of water.

The publication said these would be some of the things an atomic submarine could do:

"SPEED—An atomic submarine would probably have a destroyer's cruising speed of 25 knots and could make 35 knots flank (top speed).

"RANGE—With no fuel problem, a nuclear submarine could go farther and stay longer. This would make for happy hunting.

"INDEPENDENCE OF AIR— . . . The question of the future is not how long the submarine can stay down but how long its crew can endure it."

President Truman yesterday signed a congressional act that will allow the Navy to use a partly completed submarine for tests for an atomic-powered submarine. The submarine is the Ulua and tests are intended to show how it will react to the shock of depth charges after a dummy atomic plant has been installed in the hull.

NORTH CAROLINA U. LIFTS STADIUM BAR ON NEGRO STUDENTS

CHAPEL HILL, N.C., Oct. 13 (UP)—The University of North Carolina, oldest state university in the nation, observed its 158th anniversary yesterday by acknowledging the right of its five Negro students to sit with other students at athletic events.

The University Athletic Association and Chancellor Robert B. House aroused a furor in the 7500-member student body three weeks ago when they offered the Negro law students seats in the segregated Negro section in the end zone of the football stadium and refused them admission to the student cheering section.

Led by Student Body President Henry Bowers of Mount Airy, N.C., 14 student organizations protested against the segregation policy.

The chancellor presented student athletic pass books to the five Negroes in his office following public anniversary exercises yesterday. He had no comment on the reversal of his decision.

LILIENTHAL WARNS OF NATIONALIZED ATOMIC INDUSTRY

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 13 (AP)—David Lilienthal says the Government's present methods of handling atomic development for industrial purposes are "monopolistic" and "not our way of doing things."

Lilienthal, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, made that statement in an interview with the Deseret News yesterday. With the proposed six billion dollars annually pouring into development, he said, atomic energy would become a nationalized industry. That, he added, would result, in time, in nationalizing a large segment of American industry.

But Lilienthal made it clear he drew a sharp line between atomic development for war and for industry.

He declined to comment on war uses of atomic energy, saying: "There has been too much loose talk already in Washington."

Pipeline in Belgian Congo.

BRUSSELS (AP)—A 220-mile six-inch pipeline to carry all types of fuel will be built in the next year between Leopoldville and Ango-Ango in the Belgian Congo.

It will take 7200 tons of steel and will run overland with one pumping station en route.

TEHRAN, Oct. 13 (AP).

RUSSIA broke off financial talks with Iran last Tuesday, charging the Iranians with lack of good will, an informed Government source said today.

The break-up of trade talks had been reported previously by the weekly newspaper Tehran-I-Mossavvar, which said the rupture would have an effect on the role to be played by the Soviet Union in the Iranian case now before the Security Council in New York.

Financial talks between the two countries began a year ago on Iran's insistence that Russia pay $20,000,000 which Iran claimed was due it from the Russian wartime occupation of northern Iran.

Separate Soviet - Iran trade negotiations began here three weeks ago. It was not known whether they would be affected.

the British First Commonwealth Division but were hurled back. Commonwealth guns blasted several Red troops concentrations and hammered at supply and traffic targets.

Fighting on Heartbreak.

There still was scattered fighting on and around Heartbreak Ridge in eastern Korea.

Although the Twenty-third Regiment of the United States Second Division held the newly-won crest of Hill 851, the mop-up was incomplete.

"There are about 20 North Koreans holed up in death bunkers near the crest," a staff officer said. "The Twenty-third has them surrounded and is letting them stew in their own juice. The rest of the regiment has bypassed them and is mopping up to the north. There is no real resistance on 851."

But southwest of 851, the Third Battalion of the Twenty-third was counterattacked on a hill and forced to withdraw. Despite this setback, and cautiousness at Eighth Army Headquarters, the Twenty-third's commander, Col. James Y. Adams declared:

"We've got Heartbreak and we're going to keep it."

The saddle-type ridge is north of Yanggu.

Northwest of Yanggu, elements of the South Korean Sixth Division won five hills Friday in one of the best-exploited attacks on that front in months. It was a rout there for Chinees Reds.

The South Koreans swept the Reds off one hill, attacked the next crest and quickly won it, then secured a third. Other Sixth Division elements seized two hills in a drive which gained up to two miles.

Also west of Heartbreak, United States Second Division elements won a sixth hill.

U.N. planes, in addition to giving troops close support, ranged all over North Korea in attacks on Red supply lines. They reported a sharp tapering off of Communist highway traffic.

TOP-OF-WORLD AIR BASE SET UP BY U.S. IN GREENLAND that snow will present little, if any problem.

The base has been rushed to completion under Air Force and Army Corps of Engineers direction since the middle of May by a group of contractors who pooled their resources for the job in a group known as the North Atlantic Constructors, with headquarters in New York City.

It is believed that the international airline operators, both of this country and of its European allies, will seek to use the Thule base for a new commercial route to Alaska and the Orient. The top-of-the-world shortcuts involved would lop at least 1000 miles off this flight as it is now made.

50,000 BRITONS OPEN FIRST BIG MANEUVERS SINCE WAR

AMESBURY, Eng., Oct. 13 (AP)—Some 50,000 troops and 12,000 military vehicles swarmed over southern England today in Britain's first big army maneuvers since World War II.

The goal is an imaginary atomic pile located in the little Gloucestershire village of Broad Hinton. Artillery barrages, exploding mine fields and gas attacks are part of the program.

IRAN REBUFFS U.S., AGAIN OPPOSES U.N. IN OIL DISPUTE

Washington Backs British Plan, but Persia Insists on Direct Talks With England.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—New Iranian opposition to any Security Council intervention in the British-Iranian oil dispute rebuffed United States efforts today to find a solution to the problem.

The council has scheduled a meeting for Monday to consider a double-edged British resolution. The United States has announced its support of the British draft, and has been urging it on others.

The Iranian spokesman, Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi, told reporters last night that the Security Council has no business in the dispute. He has rejected anything other than direct negotiations with the British for compensation on the Anglo-Iranian oil properties, and then only on the basis of the new oil nationalization laws in Iran.

Fatemi also rejected a proposal by the International Co-Operative Petroleum Association for a "neutral" board to administer the Iran oil properties.

He left one avenue open. He said if any Government or individual would serve as middleman, Iran would consider resumption of talks with Britain.

But he insisted repeatedly that the Security Council must take the stand that it has no jurisdiction. The British resolution not only calls on the Security Council to ratify an International Court recommendation in the dispute, but to make resumption of talks a council project. The court decision recommended that Iran hold up its oil nationalization program until there could be such talks.

Because of Iran's protest at the implied stigma that the court decision threw on Iran in the dispute, there was a strong indication that at least four countries might side with the Iranian point of view and decide that the council had no right to sit in judgment.

India, Russia, Yugoslavia and China were rumored to be taking that stand. Some sources reported Ecuador was on the fence.

The United States has been trying to get across the idea that a general declaration by the Security Council—that the talks should resume — would be an effective instrument for reopening them.

Fatemi said firmly he was not accepting that attitude. It was indicated that when Premier Mohammed Mossadegh makes his five- or 10-minute speech in Iranian before the television cameras Monday he will say the same thing.

Mossadegh has fully recovered at a New York Hospital, his son, Dr. Golam Hosein Mossadegh, says, from the extreme exhaustion that affected him on his arrival last Monday. The Premier posed smilingly for photographers yesterday.

His son said that after the Council meeting ends, the Premier will go to Washington to call on President Truman, and then return directly to Iran.

"His people need him," the son said.

NEGRO SINGS ROLE OF 'RIGOLETTO' WITH NEW YORK COMPANY

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — Lawrence Winters, a Negro baritone from Blacksburg, S.C., sang the title role in "Rigoletto" last night with the New York City Opera Co.

A search of available records indicated he was the first of his race to take this leading part in any major opera house.

Winters, who has sung with the city opera in other roles the last three years, got his chance to play the hunchbacked jester after a last-minute change in cast.

JET PILOT DOWNED AT SEA IS RESCUED IN THREE MINUTES

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Oct. 13 (AP)—A Fifth Air Force jet pilot was rescued from the Yel low Sea off the North Korean coast today three minutes after he parachuted into the water from his damaged plane.

Capt. Richard W. Leonard of Nashua, N.H., was one of a group of F-84 Thunderjet pilots attacking Red rail lines.

His plane was hit twice by groundfire. He radioed for help and headed out to sea.

Three minutes after he hit the water a rescue plane piloted by Lt. Ronald Russo of Staten Island, N.Y., picked him up.

$56,937,800,000 ARMS BILL HITS PEACETIME HIGH

Measure Sent to Truman by Senate Increases Total Appropriations to $71,136,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The nation's biggest peacetime military appropriation — $56,937,808,030—has been approved by Congress.

Senate passage by a voice vote yesterday sent the measure on to President Truman. The House approved it last week.

The amount is about one billion dollars less than Truman requested to steel the United States against the threat of world Communism. The bulk of the money is earmarked for arming, expanding and operating the armed services during the current fiscal year which began last July 1.

With approval of the big bill, the present Congress also has broken the peacetime record for the amount of money appropriated and still has four major money bills to handle before adjournment.

Two bills passed by the Senate and sent to the White House yesterday increased to $71,136,000,000 total funds approved thus far to run the Government in the current fiscal year.

The previous high mark outside of a war year was 61 billions in fiscal 1951 which ended last June 30. The record high was set in fiscal 1943 in the midst of World War II. Appropriations that year totaled 147 billions.

The remaining four appropriation bills would add about 14 billions to the total already approved in the nine measures sent to President Truman.

Although this would take appropriations for fiscal 1952 up to the 85-billion mark, the Treasury estimates that actual spending for the year will run between 68 and 73 billions. This is because many military items such as airplanes on which work is started in this fiscal year will not be completed and not paid for until much later.

Pentagon May Seek More.

One of the bills sent to the White House yesterday—the $56,937,808,030 military money measure—was the largest peacetime appropriation bill ever passed by Congress. There have been hints the Pentagon will be back soon after Congress meets in January with a request for a supplemental appropriation for the armed services.

The other measure approved yesterday was a $1,042,867,887 bill carrying funds for the Departments of State, Commerce and Justice and the judiciary.

The Republicans made a fight on this one but it passed by almost a straight party line vote, 31 to 27.

Senator Ferguson (Rep.), Michigan, and others objected because the conferees on this bill had knocked out a Senate section making a 25 per cent cut in public relations personnel for the three departments.

Ferguson said the cut was in all the other appropriations bills and that there was no reason it should not apply to all departments.

Senator McCarran (Dem.), Nevada, floor manager for the bill, opposed Ferguson. He said only seven jobs and $35,000 were involved and that these were not worth the delay that would be caused by sending the measure back to conference.

4 Remaining Money Bills.

Action on the four remaining money bills mainly is up to the Senate and its Appropriations Committee headed by 82-year-old Senator McKellar (Dem.), Tennessee.

If the committee acts promptly on two of the measures, the lawmakers are convinced they can get out of town by next Saturday.

The four bills and their status:

1. Rivers and harbors and flood control projects. The House voted $514,000,000, the Senate $638,000,000. The measure now is deadlocked in conference. It has caused bitter disputes between the two branches in the past.

2. First supplemental carrying $1,744,000,000 for defense purposes, economic stabilization agencies and other departments. In conference.

3. Second supplemental carrying $4,428,000,000 for military bases at home and abroad and for the Atomic Energy Commission. Has passed House. Senate Appropriations Committee meets on it today.

4. Foreign aid bill carrying $7,482,000,000 for economic and military help to friendly nations. Has passed House. Senate Appropriations Committee already has had some hearings on it.

G.M. Unveils Sun-Driven Engine; Use in Car May Be 100 Years Away

DETROIT, Oct. 13 (UP)—General Motors Corp. unveiled a sun-powered motor today but cautioned that a sun-powered automobile may be "100 years away."

The present motor develops only enough fractional horsepower to spin a balsa-wood disc by means of photoelectric cells which turn the sun ray's into electrical energy.

"About all you can say for this motor right now is that it works," G.M. spokesman John Reedy said, "but the handwriting is on the wall."

Argentine Discovery Based on Heat Absorption Principle.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 13 (AP)—The department of scientific research of Cuyo University announced yesterday that two scientists have found a new way to get energy and power from sunshine.

The only explanation offered was discovery of a form of energy intermediate between atomic and chemical energy. It was said this new energy works on the principle that black absorbs more heat than white.

The Cuyo work was credited to Wolfgang Ehrenberg, a refugee German scientist, and his Argentine collaborator, Arturo E. Corte. The announcement said their idea, if applied to the ice fields in the Andes mountains, would control thawing and the flow of rivers.

The difference between atomic and chemical energy have been considered as the source from which they came—one from atomic nuclei—the other from the electrons circling these nuclei. The energies coming from either have been considered identical.

'Abadan, Sudan and Bevan a Trio Of Misfortune,' Churchill Declares

He Says British Prestige Under Laborites Has Had Greatest Drop Since Loss of American Colonies.

LONDON, Oct. 13 (UP)—Winston Churchill charged in an election speech last night that six years of Labor government have brought about the greatest drop in Britain's world prestige since the loss of the American colonies in the Revolutionary War.

"Abadan, Sudan, and Bevan are a trio of misfortune," he said, referring to the British evacuation of Iran, Egypt's threat to oust the British from the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, and the success of leftwing rebel Aneurin Bevan within the labor party.

"Our Oriental empire has been liquidated," Churchill said. "Our resources have been squandered. The pound sterling is only worth three quarters of what it was when Mr. (Clement) Attlee took over from me."

Attlee's Words Quoted.

The wartime Prime Minister spoke twice in his home constituency north of London. Anthony Eden, his chief deputy in the Conservative party, spoke in Coventry in their campaign for a return to power in the Oct. 25 elections.

Churchill aimed his attack on a statement by Prime Minister Attlee that the Labor party had only six years to clean up the "mess of centuries." He said the "mess of centuries" was what Britain represented to Atlee when he took office in 1945—"when she emerged honored and respected from one end of the world to the other by friend and foe alike after the most glorious victory for freedom."

"We have endured these six years. They have marked the greatest fall in the rank and stature of Britain in the world which has occurred since the loss of the American colonies nearly 200 years ago. . . . Our influence among the nations is now less than it has ever been in any period I remember. Now the titan wants another term of office."

Churchill promised Britain's 8,000,000 trade unionists, in a statement, meanwhile, that the Conservatives would take no steps to curb them if returned to power. He issued the statement to counter charges by Labor party leaders about what the Conservatives will do if they win.

Morrison Assails Tories.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, addressing rallies in the London area, maintained that a Conservative victory "would mean chaos." He referred to the strains the Korean war and the rearmament program have imposed on Britain's economy, and said:

"I cannot imagine a time when the Tory policies of dismantling essential controls, of lightening taxation on profits and of disturbing the relations between the trade union movement and the Government could do more harm to the nation."

Both Labor and Conservative candidates aimed mainly at a doubtful 11.5 per cent of the nation's eligible vote. The latest Gallup poll showed that many had not yet made up their minds on whom to support. Most of these, however, were reported to have shown a tendency toward Labor under persistent questioning.

Taking this tendency into consideration, poll officials estimated the Laborites had made a gain of 6 per cent since mid-September, although they still were 6.5 per cent behind the Conservatives in the poll of voters who definitely have made up their minds.

BOARD TO BETTER RELATIONS OF U.S. IN NATO PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Creation of a special commission to study ways of improving cooperation between the United States and other North Atlantic Treaty nations was proposed yesterday in Congress.

Identical bills were introduced in the Senate and House. Twenty-three Senators—15 Democrats and eight Republicans—sponsored the Senate bill. The House bill was introduced by Representative Battle (Dem.), Alabama, chairman of the Foreign Affairs subcommittee on international organizations.

They propose a 12-member commission, four to be named by the President, four by the Speaker of the House and four by the Vice President.

The sponsors of the bill said in a statement that the special commission "could formulate practical suggestions for achieving more effective co-operation among the North Atlantic Treaty countries, assure that high taxes for mutual security are producing the best possible results, provide wider participation of Congress and the public in this vital area of foreign policy, improve public understanding of the NATO and our relations with its other members, and create greater harmony within the United States regarding what these relations should be."

SINATRA'S WIFE TO SEEK DIVORCE IN CALIFORNIA

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 13 (AP)—Nancy Sinatra will ask for a California divorce Monday from her crooner husband, Frank Sinatra, thus paving the way for his marriage to Ava Gardner.

"I have to have a California divorce," Mrs. Sinatra told a reporter last night. "Frank will have his freedom, but he may have to wait maybe three weeks or so. I have to make sure everything is legally right for the children."

Sinatra has been appearing on television in New York since he filed for divorce in Las Vagas, Nev., on Sept. 20. Mrs. Sinatra obtained legal separate maintenance from him on Sept. 29, 1950, on a charge of mental cruelty. She said her divorce suit would be based on the same complaint.

MUSSOLINI'S BODY REPORTED BURIED IN MONASTERY

ROME, Oct. 13 (AP)—The newspaper Momento Sera says the remains of the late Italian dictator, Benito Mussolini, are buried near the altar of the relics in the noted Carthusian monastery near Pavia in northern Italy.

Mussolini was shot by partisans and his body hung by its feet on a lamp post in Milan before the Allies entered the northern Italian capital. It was subsequently recovered by the Italian Government and buried in a "sacred place," the location of which was not announced.

The newspaper says the remains are enclosed in a waterproof bag in which they were carried to the monastery by the head of Milan's police, Vincenzo Agnesina.

TRUMAN SIGNS THREE BILLS ON KOREAN WAR VETERANS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—President Truman signed three veterans' bills yesterday.

One was an appropriation of $5,000,000 to pay death benefits of $10,000 to service men who died in uniform. It applies mainly to casualties of the fighting in Korea.

Truman also signed a bill extending regular disability and death benefits to men who served in the armed forces after the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

The third bill provided that war veterans who develop multiple sclerosis within two years after their release shall be considered as having acquired it while in the armed forces.

TERRORISM CHARGE IN PHILIPPINES VOTE REGISTRATION

MANILA, Oct. 13 (AP)—Registration for the November election was winding up today amid new reports of violence and political terrorism. Troops and police stood guard at registration points.

There were no reports of Communist Huk interference. The Huk insurgents have been attacking registration centers and urging the people to rise against the Philippines government.

Two deaths were reported from the southern island of Leyte—a shooting and a stabbing apparently unconnected with the Huks.

The charges of political terrorism came from Negros island, where Government troops have been stationed over the objections of Gov. Rafael Lacson of Negros Occidental province.

Lacson, a member of President Elpidio Quirino's dominant Liberal party, sent a telegram to Manila intimating he would withhold his support of Liberal candidates for senator unless the troops were withdrawn.

He declared the troops were "intimidating" prospective Liberal voters and "furnishing protection" for "illegal" Nacionalista party candidates and voters.

The Philippines on Nov. 13 will elect mayors, provincial governors and nine senators. The latter are elected at large.

U.S. CHALLENGES RUSSIA TO SIGN AUSTRIAN PEACE

(Reprinted from yesterday's late editions.)

VIENNA, Oct. 12 (UP)—United States High Commissioner Walter J. Donnelly challenged the Russians today to sign a peace treaty and end the Allied occupation of Austria.

Speaking before the four-power Allied Council, he denied Russian charges that western Austria, which is occupied by the Western allies, was being rearmed.

Donnelly pointed out that the Russians forced the Austrians to pay for an occupation army of 50,000 men—bigger than that of the three Western powers combined—and had taken more than $400,000,000 worth of equipment and produce out of the country since the end of the war.

He said they also seized and operated 350 Austrian factories for their own benefit.

PLANE OUTPUT CAN BE TRIPLED BY END OF '52, SAYS OFFICIAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The retiring Under Secretary of the Air Force says the rate of plane production for the Air Force can be more than tripled by the end of next year if the present pace keeps up.

But, John A. McCone said in a statement, if the pace is to be maintained, controls over critical materials "must cut deeper than is presently the case."

McCone resigned this week to go back to private life, after serving nearly 18 months. He has been in charge of aircraft production problems.

BIG 3 CONFERENCE VIEWED AS LIKELY IF CHURCHILL WINS

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW, Oct. 13 (AP)—Western observers here believe that if Winston Churchill wins control of the British Government in the Oct. 25 elections, Prime Minister Stalin will agree to a Big Three meeting with him and President Truman.

Churchill, speaking in a London suburb Oct. 6, said:

"I am convinced that a friendly talk on dead level between the heads of leading governments such as we used to have when we were allied in the war could not do any harm and might conceivably lift a load of anxiety from the shoulders of our children."

The British Conservative leader is reported here to have made this statement in reply to a question from the audience as to whether he would call a conference of Stalin, Truman and himself if elected.

The Soviet press has not as yet referred to this suggestion, but westerners believe such an invitation from Churchill would be accepted. They do not feel that such a meeting would solve all the world's problems, but they agree with Churchill that it could do no harm.

After the Potsdam conference in 1945 with Stalin representing Russia and first Churchill, then Clement Attlee, representing Britain. Truman said he would not go abroad for any more such meetings.

Observers point out, however, that a great many things have happened since then to threaten world peace and the President might be induced to change his mind.

If Truman is unable to attend, they said, he might send his foreign policy adviser, W. Averell Harriman. Harriman was Ambassador to Moscow during World War II.

WOMAN IN APARTMENT HOTEL SHOT, KILLED BY BURGLAR

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (UP)—A 50-year-old woman was shot and killed today as she fled from the scene of an apartment house burglary. Mrs. Helen Benson was pronounced dead at Jackson Park Hospital.

Police said she returned to her South Side apartment in the Bellereve Hotel early today. She went inside while her husband parked their automobile. A few minutes later two Negro armed men entered and approached the clerk, Joseph J. Burney, 69.

They ordered him to open a safe but he pleaded that he did not have the combination. The men then suggested moving the safe into Mrs. Benson's first-floor apartment, where they presumably intended to blow it open.

Burney, police said, knocked on Mrs. Benson's door and when she opened and saw the man she screamed and fled through the lobby. One of the men pursued her and shot her just as she reached the street. The holdup men obtained $18.

TIBET REPORTED SEEKING EASIER PACT WITH CHINA

NEW DELHI, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Times of India said today that Communist-occupied Tibet has not yet ratified its treaty with Red China and is asking for modification of the terms. The treaty was signed in Peiping May 23.

The Times story, datelined Kalimpong on the Tibetan border, said the Dalai Lama had not yet put his seal on the pact which defined measures for the "peaceful liberation of Tibet" by the Communists.

It quoted unidentified Tibetan sources now in Kalimpong.

TRUMAN PLEDGES EFFORTS TO FREE RED SATELLITES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—President Truman has promised continuing United States efforts to bring freedom to Russian satellite nations so long as he is President.

Truman gave this assurance to 20 delegates of the American Hungarian Federation. They called at the White House yesterday to urge him to denounce Hungary's Communist government "as violators of the universal declaration of human rights."

AFL TO CARRY FIGHT ON POSSIBLE RACE BY DONNELLY TO WHITE HOUSE

Plans to Ask President to Use Influence With James Pendergast to Oppose Ex-Governor's Candidacy.

AFL union leaders have formed a committee to carry the fight to prevent former Gov. Phil M. Donnelly from becoming the Democratic nominee for Governor of Missouri to President Truman and Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin, it became known today.

Action by politically active AFL men, including Larry Callanan, steamfitters' boss, follows that of city and state CIO leaders, who refused to participate in the recent Jefferson-Jackson day dinner because they thought Donnelly would benefit from the $50,000 fund raised at the dinner, if he became a candidate for Governor."

The AFL committee was formed at a meeting prior to the Jefferson-Jackson day dinner, held at Hotel Jefferson Oct. 6. Purpose of the committee, the Post-Dispatch was told, was to seek an audience with President Truman or Secretary Tobin relative to withholding support from "candidates unfair to organized labor."

Donnelly was the particular target of the AFL men because of his support of the King-Thompson untility no-strike law, the Madison labor regulatory law, since repealed, and his opposition to formation of a St. Louis police union when he was governor in the period 1944-48.

Members of the AFL committee were present at a private luncheon for United States Senator Thomas C. Hennings Jr., and Under Secretary of Labor Michael J. Galvin the day of the Jefferson-Jackson dinner. Galvin was asked, it was reported, to arrange a meeting of the committee and the President, or Tobin, to hear the AFL opposition to Donnelly.

The AFL plan, it was learned, is to ask President Truman to use his influence with James M. Pendergast, Kansas City Democratic boss, to withhold support from Donnelly, if the Lebanon attorney seeks the Democratic nomination. Donnelly had Pendergast support in 1944, at a time when that support was less powerful, due to a split in the Kansas City Democratic faction, than it is today. Arrangements for a conference in Washington with either the President, or Tobin, are reported to have been made.

Donnelly's Strength.

There has as yet been no test of the Pendergast faction and Pendergast has made no commitment on Donnelly, although political observers think Pendergast Democrats will support the former governor. Donnelly is known to have considerable organization support, outside of labor, and President Truman has been told that Donnelly can win the governorship.

Although Donnelly has not declared himself formally as a candidate, he recently announced that "numerous requests that I become a candidate for a second term as Governor cannot, in fairness to my friends, be ignored." His statement added that an announcement of his decision will be made early next year.

The labor committee also called on John J. Nangle, Democratic National Committeeman from Missouri, to inquire if the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner "was for Donnelly?" Nangle said today he advised them the dinner was "traditional throughout the nation," and was not an instrument to obtain funds for Donnelly's campaign.

Funds to Go Elsewhere.

The National Committeeman said he pointed out that, with the approach of a national election, funds raised through contributions to the dinner would be spent long before the campaign, and would not be available to support Donnelly or any other candidate for Governor.

Nangle said today he also informed the labor committee that he, as National Committeeman, would be "neutral" in the primary. "But I also told them," Nangle added, "that if Donnelly is nominated I will support him." Nangle said he explained that his support is "not so much to an individual candidate, but to our Democratic principles." The AFL contribution to the Jefferson-Jackson dinner was $12,000, Nangle reported.

Members of the AFL committee calling on Nangle included Joseph C. Payne, secretary of the Building Trades Council; Leo F. Havey, business representative of the Bricklayers; Harold J. Gibbons, secretary of Local 688, Teamsters; William L. Ryan, president Local 600, Teamsters; James Hartman, business agents, Local No. 1, Electrical Workers, and John Gratz, business agent, Chemical Workers. Members of this committee plan to call on President Truman, or Secretary Tobin.

PRAYER BOOK LOST HERE 26 YEARS AGO RETURNED TO OWNER

A prayer book lost here 26 years ago was returned yesterday from California, still in perfect condition, after the finders traced the owner through a little girl's name.

Mrs. Frank Brunette, 5222 Alabama avenue, lost the book one day when returning from a service at St. Boniface's Catholic Church, 7622 Michigan avenue. It was found by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mandeville, who lived here then but shortly afterward moved to Alhambra, Calif.

The Mandevilles could find no name in the book. There were, however, a number of holy pictures with references to St. Boniface's School and the parish, and the finders carefully preserved the book with the hope that they might someday trace the owner through these pictures.

Recently they visited here and left the book with relatives. A niece, who also had been a member of St. Boniface's, noticed the name "Frances Scheck" on the back of one of the holy pictures. She immediately recognized it as the maiden name of Mrs. Brunette, and the book was returned. The picture, Mrs. Brunette said, had been given her by her teacher in the fifth grade of the parish school.

POLICE OF 3 CITIES TEAM UP, CAPTURE 5 YOUTHS IN CHASE

Police of St. Louis, Granite City and Madison joined forces last night to capture five youths in an automobile after a high-speed chase which began in St. Louis and ended in Madison.

Detective Capt. Joseph Flynn and Detective Cpl. Gerald Keating said they first saw the automobile traveling at high speed at West Florissant and Grand boulevard. They began the chase. The youths picked up speed, flashing by the toll collector on McKinley bridge without paying, and then taking a circuitous route through Venice, Granite City and Madison.

Capt. Flynn fired two shots at the car and then Granite City and Madison squad cars entered the chase. It ended when a tire on the pursued automobile blew out on rough railroad tracks at Fourteenth and Madison streets in Madison.

The driver, who suffered a scalp laceration when the tire blew out, identified himself as Frank Mixen, 18 years old, a machine operator, living in the 3300 block of North Ninth street. He was booked for appearance in police court Monday on charges of speeding, passing four major stops and careless driving. His companions, whose ages range from 15 to 17 years old, were held for investigation.

EAST SIDE WRECKER FIRM SUES OVER POLICE 'DISCRIMINATION'

Suit for an injunction to prevent the East St. Louis Police Department from "discrimination" in choosing wreckers to tow automobiles damaged in accidents in the city, was filed in circuit court at Belleville yesterday by Harry Trippett, operator of a garage and towing service at 908 Missouri avenue, East St. Louis.

Trippett alleged that Police Chief George Dowling had issued orders that only two garages, not including Trippets, should be called for police towing jobs. Trippett charged he had been denied the right to remove wrecked automobiles even though the owners had recommended his company be called.

The firms which are called for all the towing are England's Garage, 803 Exchange avenue, and Trebbe Auto Service, 1415 North Ninth street, Trippett charged. Named as defendant with Dowling was Russell T. Beebe, police commissioner. Trippett is the brother of Jack Trippett, who handled the city's towing business under former Police Commissioner John T. English. English was defeated for re-election last April.

312 UNIVERSITY CITY SCHOOL EMPLOYES GET PAY INCREASE

A cost-of-living wage increase of $15 a month for 312 employes of University City schools was announced yesterday by Superintendent of Schools Julius E. Warren.

The increase has been approved by the University City board of education and applies to 242 teachers and 70 operating personnel. The increase is retroactive to Oct. 1, 1951.

Driver Hurt After Accident.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 13 (UP)—A 19-year-old youth fainted at the wheel of his automobile yesterday. It went out of control and jumped a curb, but the youth was not injured. A solicitous bystander rushed up to help the teen-ager, Richard Starkweather. When the rescuer jerked open the auto door, Stankweather fell out on his head. He was taken to a hospital.

6 PERSONS KILLED IN ST. LOUIS AREA TRAFFIC MISHAPS

St. Louis Army Officer Fatally Hurt in Indiana, Hit While Standing Beside Wreckage.

Six persons were killed in traffic accidents in the St. Louis area today, and a St. Louis Army officer was killed in a highway accident near Franklin, Ind. The dead are:

Second Lt. Herman J. Ottenad Jr., 22, of 5015A Devonshire avenue.

Ezery D. Jones, 21, of Vandalia, Ill.

Walter Leroy Kleinik, 15, Vandalia, Ill.

Mrs. Hallie Newland Coleman, 20, of 1316 Hadley street.

Trapped in Truck.

Malloy, a driver for the Byers Transportation Co., 1201 North Tenth street, was trapped in the cab of a tractor-trailer and burned to death early today when the vehicle, carrying a load of Christmas cards, ran off United States Highway 40 a mile west of Wentzville, overturned and caught fire.

The accident occurred on a one-way stretch where the highway was under repair. Malloy screamed for help inside the cab while two other truckers fought the flames with hand extinguishers in an effort to save him. Malloy was dead when the Wentzville Fire Department arrived and put out the blaze.

Miss Rainwater, a comptometer operator, 2522 Grand avenue, Granite City, died early today at City Hospital of injuries suffered two hours earlier in an accident at South Twelfth boulevard and Carroll streets.

She was driving north on Twelfth when John L. Melton, a mechanic, 705A South Broadway, driving east on Carroll, crashed against her automobile, shoving it 45 feet and throwing her from the machine, police reported. Melton was treated at City Hospital for a back injury and cuts of the face. He said the accelerator stuck and he jammed his foot down on it in an attempt to free it. The machine shot forward.

Collision Fatal to 2.

Jones and the Kleinik boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley C. Kleinik, were killed when the automobile Jones was driving crashed against the back of a Vandalia Bus Lines bus on United States Highway 40 at Kingshighway, about three miles east of East St. Louis. The bus driver, L. J. Finley, 124 Collinsville avenue, Collinsville, said he was slowing for a stop.

Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Jones, had offered to drive the boy home from a Vandalia restaurant, where the latter finished work as a dishwasher at 5 a.m. Apparently they decided to drive into East St. Louis. Jones, a veteran of fighting in Korea, was separated from the Air Force yesterday.

Laden and Mrs. Coleman, both Negroes, were killed early today when Laden lost control of his automobile on a sharp turn on Eagle Park road, a mile north of Illinois State Highway 3, near National City. The machine rolled over several times and came to rest at the bottom of a gully, state police said. Three other passengers suffered minor injuries.

Lt. Ottenad, who was stationed at Camp Atterbury, Ind., was injured fatally while standing beside the wreckage of an accident from which he had escaped unhurt.

State police said his automobile hit another machine, parked partly on the pavement on U.S. Highway 31, thirteen miles south of Indianapolis. He was standing near the wreckage when a tractor-trailer hit a second parked automobile, knocking off the gasoline tank. Lt. Ottenad's clothes were sprayed with gasoline and caught fire, and he was crushed. He died three hours later in the Camp Atterbury hospital.

TWO COUNTY MEN ARRESTED IN THEFT OF U.S. PROPERTY

Two St. Louis county men employed by the Granite City Engineer Depot were released on $2500 bond each here yesterday following their arrest on federal indictments returned Monday at Springfield, Ill. They were charged with theft of government property from the depot.

Also under indictment was Bernie Rossen, junk dealer at 2011 McCasland avenue, East St. Louis, charged with receiving the stolen property. The county men charged were Cecil H. Hamilton, salvage agent at the depot, 9404 Minerva avenue, Overland, and Otto E. Weinrich, 8708 Airport road, Berkeley.

Hamilton was charged with selling 28,000 pounds of scrap batteries and 27,000 pounds of scrap metal to Rossen, and Hamilton and Weinrich were charged jointly with embezzling proceeds from $150 worth of wooden cases. The arrests were among 120 announced by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in thefts of $1,000,000 from military installations throughout the country.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

The audience at yesterday's matinee performance, featuring Red Ryder, movie cowboy, and 100 other circus acts, included 1500 orphans from Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Negro institutions. The orphans were guests of city firemen.

The circus performances will continue through tomorrow night. Matinees today and tomorrow will be at 2:30 p.m. and night performances will be at 8:30 o'clock. Proceeds will go to the St. Louis Firemen's Relief Fund for the aid of widows and orphans of city firemen.

Prison for Man Trying to Defraud Parents of Korean War Dead

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 13 (AP)—A three-year prison sentence and a stinging rebuke from a United States district judge have been given a St. Joseph (Mo.) man who pleaded guilty to using the mails to defraud. His scheme involved parents of service men killed in Korea.

Sentenced was William Charles Hollingsworth, 28 years old.

Sam O. Hargus, assistant United States attorney, said the scheme worked like this:

Hollingsworth bought copies of Chicago and Omaha newspapers at St. Joseph. From the newspapers he obtained the names of men killed in the Far East and the names and addresses of their parents.

He wrote the soldiers, in care of their parents, asking for money purportedly lent to the service men.

The letter that brought Hollingsworth's arrest was addressed to John T. Green, Chicago.

"Dear Johnny," the letter read, "I've just got a 10-day leave. And I'm a little hard up. Could you let me have the $100 I loaned you?"

The dead soldier's mother notified postal authorities.

After pleading guilty, Hollingsworth told the court he had not obtained any money from his scheme.

"I was caught on about the first letter I sent out," he said.

Dispensing with any pre-sentence investigation, Judge Richard M. Duncan said: "There is no more reprehensible thing in the world than to prey on the distraught parents of soldiers who have been killed. Three years."

CRUSHED AS CEMENT TRUCK ROLLS BACK, WORKER DIES

Lawrence R. Lamb, laborer, 4042 Laclede avenue, died at City Hospital yesterday of injuries suffered when a cement-mixing truck rolled backward and crushed him an hour earlier.

Lamb, 50 years old, was working on a house being built at 3604 Berger avenue. He went behind the truck, preparing to let down the pouring spot, after the driver, Carl Dieckmann of Robertson, employed by Volz Concrete Materials Co., 8801 Page avenue, Overland, had alighted. The truck rolled backward against Lamb before Dieckmann could jump back into the cab to stop it.

DARST RECEIVES HIGHEST AWARD OF HOUSING GROUP

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 — Mayor Joseph M. Darst of St. Louis received the highest award of the National Association of Housing Officials last night.

He was chosen as the person who has done the most during 1951 for the promotion of good housing on the basis of his contribution on local, state and national levels.

The citation read in part:

"Mayor Darst has given the kind of vigorous day-in, day-out leadership that is essential to the establishment of a publicly-understood and accepted program of slum clearance, low rental housing and urban redevelopment. He has made St. Louis unique among American cities in the degree to which he has achieved support for these programs among business groups normally opposed to them."

The mayor was the only individual to get an award although certificates for outstanding administrative work during the year were presented to housing authorities of Worcester, Mass.; Yolo county, Calif. and Baltimore.

In an acceptance address, Darst said the honor belongs to all St. Louisans who have been active in obtaining city-wide support for public-housing and urban redevelopment programs.

He praised efforts made on a national basis to solve the housing problem, saying this work has proved a most effective deterrant to the inroads of Communism.

Mayor Darst was a leader in instituting the DeSoto-Carr project in St. Louis—a program which includes three separate public housing developments, to provide a total of 4500 dwelling units.

Himself a real estate dealer, he has been successful in convincing other real estate men of the value, from a long-range viewpoint, of supporting low-rent public housing programs. The Mayor also has been active in supporting legislation, from national to local levels, designed to promote programs of this type.

AWARDED $55,000 FOR LOSS OF LEG IN RAIL CAR ACCIDENT

A $55,000 judgment against the Missouri Pacific Railroad was awarded by a jury yesterday to George Van of Caney, Kan., a section laborer who lost his left leg in an accident last March 5. He had sued for $125,000.

Van was thrown from the front of a motorized car and run over when the car hit a hog that had strayed onto a spur track. Testifying in the court of Circuit Judge William S. Connor, he contended the railroad was liable because the operator had been negligent in failing to stop the vehicle promptly after a warning shout. The railroad argued that Van himself was to blame because he was supposed to have acted as lookout.

Trial of the suit was enlivened by testimony about the nature of hogs. One member of the crew, testifying through a deposition, declared: "Hogs make no effort to get out of the way of anything. They just stand and look at you and won't get off the track."

FLORIDA WINS DISPUTE, GETS BACK U.S. AID FOR DEPENDENTS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 13 (AP) — The State of Florida is going to get its federal aid for dependents restored. The Federal Government has tentatively agreed there's not much chance of a profit from a half-acre garden, one cow, one pig and 10 chickens.

The Social Security Administration held up the quarterly allocation of $7,400,000 in welfare funds after the last Florida Legislature passed a bill allowing the small farm and providing they need not be considered in determining the needs of individuals.

State Welfare authorities assured federal oficials the dependent persons would not be able to make a profit from such a small venture.

DOROTHY KIRSTEN SINGS ROLE UNAWARE HER MOTHER DIED

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13 (INS)—Opera star Dorothy Kirsten received a thunderous ovation for her role in the tragic opera Tosca last night, but neither the audience nor Miss Kirsten knew that the singer's mother had died a few hours earlier.

Her husband, Dr. Eugene Chapman, also a singer, was in the audience at the San Francisco War Memorial opera house and knew of the death of his wife's mother in Neptune, N.J.

Dr. Chapman withheld news of the death until Miss Kirsten came off the stage. Mrs. Kirsten, who was in her seventies, had been ill for some time. She died of a heart attack.

Rise in Stamp-Lickers' Pay Scale Is Sticking Him, Dealer Explains

EDWIN P. HAWORTH

The labor rate for a proficient stamp-licker has skyrocketed from 60 cents to as much as $1.40 per hour in the last few years. This may not cause grave concern to most persons but with Edwin P. Haworth it's different.

As probably the nation's oldest active first-day stamp pursuer, the 76-year-old Kansas City man is in a business which literally hinges on getting stamps moistened and placed on envelopes.

Haworth is a "first-day servicer." That is philatelist lingo for stamp-chaser, and readily understood around the fifteenth floor of Hotel DeSoto where the Mound City Stamp Club is host today and tomorrow to a convention of the Trans-Mississippi Philatelic Society.

At the drop of a memorial stamp issue date, the spry, elderly dealer is away, bound for the city honored with the "first-day" supply of the special issue. He has been from coast to coast; estimates he has traveled from 12,000 to 25,000 miles a year since 1940. And when a Battle of Brooklyn stamp is issued Dec. 10 he says he'll be there, too.

He buys up thousands of commemorative stamps for mailing on specially printed envelopes and postcards. He has to get the stamps on the envelopes that first day. That is the whole idea, for cancellation date purposes. He recruits workers locally.

"The cost for such work . . . putting stamps on envelopes and cards . . . has doubled," he said, "and even at today's wages labor is hard to find in some cities."

He explained that while most stamp on-putters use non-tongue mostening gadgets some stick firmly to the old lap-as-lap-can method as superior. For important work Haworth is of the latter school. He said: "Sticks better."

POLICE BOARD REBUKES 2 OFFICERS IN ARREST

Detectives Censured in Case Which Judge, Jury Agreed Was Frame-Up.

The Police Board yesterday reprimanded two police officers for the arrest of Faunteain Boyd, Negro, who later was freed on a concealed weapons charge after the judge, jury and prosecutor at his trial agreed that he had been the victim of a police frame-up.

The officers, Detective Sgt. Glen Scism and Detective Cpl. Claude Roth, were censured by the board for making an improper report, it was announced. The report did not include all details leading up to Boyd's arrest, the board decided.

Boyd was arrested May 28 near his home at 1813 Cole street by the policemen, who said he "looked like" a man they were seeking on a robbery charge. He was booked for carrying a concealed weapon after the officers found a pistol in his possession.

Boyd testified at his trial Sept. 20 before a jury in Circuit Judge William B. Flynn's court that about one half hour before his arrest, he had shown the unloaded pistol to the officers in front of his home. They told him it would be all right for him to take the weapon to a pawnbroker to sell, he said.

Failure of Scism and Roth to include in their report information about examining the pistol before Boyd's arrest was the basis of the Police Board reprimand. At the trial the officers testified they did not recognize Boyd as the man with whom they had previously talked when they made the arrest.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Joseph L. Walsh joined with Judge Flynn and the jury in agreeing that Boyd was a victim of entrapment.

AWARDED $25,000 JUDGMENT FOR TRAIN WRECK INJURIES

A $25,000 judgment was awarded Ulysses S. Parks, 7847 Alert drive, Hanley Hills, by a circuit court jury at Mt. Vernon, Mo., yesterday in his suit against the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

Parks, now a cab driver, was employed as a fireman for the railroad when two Missouri Pacific trains collided at Sedalia, Mo., on Jan. 1, 1948, killing 14 persons and injuring 35 others. Parks sought $35,000 for back injuries suffered in the wreck.

Lawrence County Circuit Judge Rex McPherson overruled Parks in his claim for $42,000 sought for wrongful discharge. The judge ruled the railroad, which dismissed Parks shortly after the collision, had the right to do so on the ground he had violated safety rules.

POLICE INVESTIGATE SHOOTING OF EAST SIDE TAVERN OWNER

Elmer Stu Carroll, East St. Louis tavern operator, is in St. Mary's Hospital with a bullet wound of the left shoulder and arm suffered under circumstances that are being investigated by police.

Carroll, proprietor of a tavern at 1123 State street, appeared at the pital yesterday and reported he had been shot outside Gypsy Inn, on Illinois Highway 3 near MacArthur Bridge. He said a man he does not know fired a pistol shot at him when he left the tavern "to get some air" after drinking there. His condition is serious.

BILLY ROSE'S WIFE REPORTED SEEKING LEGAL SEPARATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—The New York Daily News says Eleanor Holm will seek a legal separation, not a divorce, from showman Billy Rose.

The marital troubles of the 37-year-old former swimming queen and her 50-year-old husband erupted from the rumor stage several days ago to a legal war of words between their respective lawyers.

The News says it learned last night that Miss Holm was sue only for a legal separation. It added, however, that Miss Holm's attorney, Louis Nizer, could not be reached for comment.

SUIT FILED TO BAR BATES SCHOOL USE BY NEGRO PUPILS

Board's Action Was 'Unreasonable Exercise of Power,' Petitioner Charges.

Suit to enjoin the Board of Education from converting Bates School, 1912 Prairie avenue, to use by Negro high school students was filed in circuit court today.

The petition, signed by 33 residents of the Bates district, alleged the board's action was an "unreasonable exercise of power" that would cause "immediate disruption of teacher-pupil relationships built over a long period of time."

Calling attention to a demonstration by Negroes, chiefly students, in the downtown area last month, the petition said the board's decision was "in direct response to pressure exerted by colored people as to crowded conditions in their schools."

The School Board announced Sept. 27 a plan to close the Bates and Marquette Schools "immediately" to white pupils and to open them next semester, after reconversion work, for Negro high school students. An injunction suit to prevent the closing of Marquette was filed Wednesday.

In the Bates suit, it is alleged that the 650 white children now attending classes there constitute a sufficient number to use school facilities at a maximum.

The change as ordered by Superintendent of Instruction Philip J. Hickey and approved by the board was made without notice and without giving anyone a chance to be heard in protest, the petition said.

Called 'Arbitrary.'

Such action was described as "arbitrary, unlawful, unreasonable, capricious and precipitous."

Howard Frick, attorney for the plaintiffs, said the School Board plans to close Bates Monday, although it has agreed to continue classes at Marquette for white children until a hearing has been held on the injunction suit.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The name and address of the writer must accompany every letter, but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 200 words receive preference.

Malthus and Point Four

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In Sunday's Post-Dispatch there was a frightening article from Washington by Wallace R. Deuel, "Malthus Theory —Does It Rule Out Point Four?"

We laughed and felt superior a few years ago at an undignified spectacle in Russia. The biologists were instructed to follow Lysenko and to teach the inheritance of acquired characteristics. It had become apparent to the revolutionary leaders that unless acquired characteristics could be inherited, it was going to be hard to extirpate the evil elements in human character, in order to build the Marxist utopia. So they extended the party line into the field of biology.

Now Mr. Deuel tells us that our leaders are extending our own party line into the field of biology. The Administration does not accept the teaching of Malthus on population, especially on population pressure as a cause of poverty. The Administration is resolved to pass out the unending billions under Point Four and other programs, without fear that the population in the aided countries may increase fast enough to keep poverty at about the same distressing level.

There is an extensive literature on population quantity and quality. Yet a great many form their conclusions by what Veblen called "naive common sense," or by pure emotion. If one is willing to subject his half-baked thoughts in the field to the light of scientific research and real philosophical conjecturing, any sociologist or librarian can start him on a profitable reading course. A good encyclopedia will give an initial push.

If you intend to read in this field, you had better hurry, before the party line gets firmly established!

Crusade for the Old Soldier

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Assuming it to be a fact that corruption is widespread among various Government agencies, it should be the business of the American people to do what they can to bring a stop to it. Their only chance is to elect a President strong and wise enough to appoint proper and honest administrators.

The "old soldier," at 71, is still my first choice for leader in the crusade. He will not "fade away" before a splendid clean-up job could be accomplished. MacArthur is the name.

Senator Anderson's Letter

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Senator Anderson in soliciting funds for the Harry S. Truman Library at Grandview, Mo., has distinguished himself in at least one respect, i.e., his unmitigated gall, in the light of his professed interest in the reduction of the national budget, is most certainly without parallel.

His letter to individuals and corporations inviting them to avoid taxes through the medium of his nefarious scheme, is a masterpiece of gentle coercion toward the aggrandizement of President Truman and the Democratic party.

And this at the expense of the country's effort to cope with the rising costs of preparedness!

If we fail, God forbid, in our race to make up for time lost in wishful thinking, history will indelibly and irrevocably fix the blame on men in public life who, like Senator Anderson, "let not one hand know what the other doeth."

Mr. Shea Thanks Mr. Creason

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I think I ought to thank Edward R. Creason for the "hand" he gave me in the Post-Dispatch the other day. It was very cleverly done and all of us got a big kick out of it. W. J. SHEA.

From an Irate Partisan

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Exercising my constitutional right to criticize, I harpoon the Post-Dispatch and its cartoonist for rendering a great injustice to Senator McCarthy on your Sunday editorial page. (Cartoon, "Six More Years?" and editorial, "One Man's Opportunity"). This was a distortion of the truth.

You underestimate the loyalty of rank and file Republicans to Senator McCarthy. We shall vigorously support his allegations, his attempt to remove pronounced leftists from policy-making government positions. We shall support his candidacy should he desire re-election.

In criticizing him, your paper encourages disapprobation of the Wisconsin Republican who will not tolerate fellow-travelers, sympathizers of Marxian Socialism or atheistic Communism.

Also you have caricatured Republican Chairman Gabrielson in the wrong light. It has offended the sensibilities of honorable Republicans who have given Gabrielson a clean slate. You have implied that he is of the same ilk as Boyle.

It is true you have embarrassed the Democrats but not enough to suffice for Republicans. You have refused to anathemize presidential atavistic aberrations for invalidating constitutional guarantees. You are a disservice to the public.

OLD GUARD REPUBLICAN.

Emotion vs. Strength

Apparently this is the open season for pot shots at the British lion. Persian Premier Mossadegh was the first to take his gun down from the wall. Then the Egyptian politicians decided to get in on the sport. And now, Iraq is calling for revision of a 25-year treaty under which Great Britain maintains two military air fields in this Middle Eastern land of sand and oil wells.

Arab nationalism, we are told, is demanding its hour in the sun. The trouble, however, is that this Arab super-patriotism has little of the dynamic power which once, long ago, made Islam the shaper of a very considerable part of the world. The Arab fervor of today is almost pure emotionalism.

Neither the Egyptians, the Persians, the Iraqui or any of the other contemporary Arabs have the economic resources, the military strength or the industrial know-how to maintain themselves in the modern world. Considering their abject showing against Israel, what would they do if Russian totalitarianism began to move into the power vacuum which they seem bent on creating?

Iraq may have some reason for wanting a change in its treaty with Britain—although, on the surface, it seems that this agreement was fairly negotiated in 1930 and fairly re-negotiated in 1948. It replaced Britain's old League of Nations mandate over Iraq, and it is supposed to remain in force until 1957. Further revision may be discussed, but it is difficult to see how unilateral denunciation can be countenanced.

This is equally true of the Egyptian and Persian agreements, especially since Britain has agreed to far-reaching changes. These agreements ought not to be regarded as the props of a by now rather mythical imperialism, but, instead, as parts of a system of collective security.

Britain is by no means the only beneficiary. The Middle East—and the Suez Canal in particular—is of major importance to free nations on the other side of the globe. And the presence of British strength is so vital to the Arabs themselves that one sometimes wonders why their politicians do not shrink from the dangerous game they are playing.

Perhaps they feel that Britain's role in the world has changed. Perhaps they feel that the United States will stand by while Britain is pushed out of the East Mediterranean-Red Sea-Persian Gulf area just as Britain stood by while France was pushed out of Lebanon and Syria, or may stand by while France is pushed out of Tunis and Morocco where Arab agitators also are busy.

Britain's postwar Labor Government, of course, has been preoccupied with domestic problems. Recovery from the losses of World War II has been the primary concern of all European governments. And for the last year and a half, Labor's majority has been so slight that it has been difficult for it to cut as bold a figure in the world as British Governments once did. That is one reason for hoping that, whichever party wins in the forthcoming elections, it will do so with a really wide basis of support.

But no matter how the British settle their domestic political contest, they shall have to play their part in the world—with justice but also with firmness. In the face of an almost worldwide threat of dictatorship, emotional nationalism must respect the need for collective security. Mutual agreements must not give way to nihilism, because nihilism surely will give way to terrorism.

Chink in the Atomic Wall

It has been estimated that about four-fifths of the work of the Atomic Energy Commission is now devoted to the provision of weapons. The bill just passed by the Senate, providing for an elaborately safeguarded exchange of atomic information with friendly nations, applies only to the other one-fifth of the business. The secrets to be shared, if they are secrets, will pertain only to developments outside the field of military weapons.

No doubt this bill would not have been supported by the AEC if it had not believed that substantial benefits to this country would accrue. It is proposed to share certain limited types of information with such countries as Britain, Canada, France and Norway not out of a benevolent desire to give up our own secrets but in the hope of picking up some useful information in exchange.

Originally, the development of atomic energy was about as international an enterprise as could be found, in the sense that it flowed from the brains of many scientists living in many countries. The industrial capacity and genius of this country enabled us to be the first to utilize atomic energy, but the scientific basis of that feat transcended national boundaries.

Now one small chink in the nationalistic walls that have been erected around this field of knowledge may be opened if the Senate bill is accepted by the House. It seems a small enough token of the fact that science thrives best when it is free, and of the hope that some day world conditions may permit a further lowering of the barriers.

New Housing Is the Object

The East St. Louis City Council has little to lose and perhaps a great deal to gain in ignoring the stand of Mayor Alvin G. Fields against plans of the St. Clair County Housing Authority to provide the city with at least 400 additional housing units.

Mayor Fields has said the council would persist in its refusal to let the housing authority put up two low-rental multiple-dwelling projects in areas of the city that are now zoned for single-family residences. The militant opposition of home owners living near the proposed sites no doubt had much to do with the Mayor's attitude.

Two facts have an important bearing on the situation. The first is that the aim of low-cost housing is to provide housing. Slum clearing is not the sole object of that program. At a time when public housing is badly needed, insistence that it shall be built only in slum areas may merely mean that it will not be built at all.

The second is that the two sites chosen for the $7,965,444 worth of new construction lie within what is probably one of the largest tracts of vacant land in East St. Louis. The fact that this land is in one of the city's better residential districts would make it all the more attractive. Surely the home owners do not think the only place for low-cost housing is in a blighted district.

Home owners also have objected on the ground that school and municipal services would be overburdened and that property values would decline. Those are gratuitous assertions that the council may quite properly deny. The housing authority feels strongly that the projects would improve property values.

If it is true, as charged, that the housing authority failed to consult the city zoning commission before purchasing the sites, the council has a valid complaint. But the issue is whether East St. Louis is to have the additional housing it so sorely needs. The council's displeasure with the authority can be expressed in other ways—but not at the expense of the people.

Discretion for OPS

Revision of the Capehart amendment to the price control act has been attacked by an auto manufacturer on the ground that it would permit the OPS to exercise "unlimited discretionary authority" over prices.

Unlimited authority is something the OPS has never had, and it is difficult to understand how the slight revision of the Capehart amendment now proposed would increase its descretion to a dangerous degree. In fact, the real issue appears to be whether OPS shall be placed in such a straitjacket that it cannot enforce effective price control.

The Capehart amendment imposed a straitjacket because it required the OPS, in fixing price ceilings, to allow for all cost increases up to last July whether or not the profits of the industries affected were so low as to require passing on all of these costs to the consumer. Now the Senate has passed and the House is about to consider a revision which would slightly relax the Capehart rule.

If we are to have anything like effective price control, surely the test of cost absorption should be whether the industry in question can afford to absorb increased costs, or whether it has to pass them on to the consumer in order to earn a fair profit. That is a test which can only be applied by the OPS, under a law granting it reasonable discretion for the purpose. It is up to the OPS to adjust ceilings for individual firms in such a way as to avoid injustice, but a law is needed which permits adjustment instead of imposing a blanket rule which can only mean a general rise in price ceilings.

For Mind Over Muscle

The fact that more and more colleges and universities are taking close looks at their athletic programs—especially in football and basketball—makes it almost certain that there will be less overemphasis of muscle over mind.

The latest school to examine itself is the University of Virginia. There, a faculty-appointed committee has recommended that the institution field "less professional" football teams, abolish athletic scholarships and subsidies, and closely supervise all phases of the athletic program. Other schools might well apply the recommendations to their own athletic activity.

Intercollegiate athletics should be only one part, a subordinate part, of college life. Colleges exist to enrich, expand and nourish the intellect; that "big time" sports contribute nothing to that aim is obvious. As more colleges come to realize this, the trend against over-emphasis will grow. Their reputations may even come to rest on their curriculums and teachers, not on the record of last year's eleven.

Seeking the Common Ground

Now that Chester Bowles has weathered the partisan attack by Republican Senators on his qualifications for the post of Ambassador to India, he can turn his vision toward New Delhi and the difficult task that lies ahead of him.

The essence of that task is to convince a wary Nehru that we have no intention of pushing him into anything he has serious doubts about. That goes especially for Nehru's aversion to taking sides in the cold war.

The new republic is teeming with a population second in numbers only to that of Red China. Millions of its people exist as little more than beasts of burden. Disease is rampant and the life span short. Malnutrition is always present and starvation just around the corner. The world-wide inflation is making living no easier.

It is no wonder then that Indians in general have so little stomach for what they consider the white man's war. Moreover, as they struggle to improve their lot, they have in Kashmir the threat of a war of their own, one that is close at hand.

Many thoughtful Indians realize their acute need for foreign capital. But they fear that if they are not continually watchful, American economic bonds may replace the old chains of British colonialism. If the United States is to help, they think, then it should offer its help with no strings attached. Indians want to govern themselves in the way that seems best to them. They feel it is none of America's business if that way does not coincide with ours.

Yet there is a common ground on which the two countries can meet. The United States can and should help the new nation to attain a higher standard of living. More than anything else, that will combat the Red threat within India and help alleviate India's suspicion of our motives.

Meeting a Parking Need

The State Senate has quite wisely approved the bill to permit St. Louis to operate parking lots and garages, instead of being compelled to rent city-financed facilities to private operators as the law now requires. The measure has been sent to the House for consideration.

Only three Senators voted against this piece of legislation. They were David A. Hess, Edward J. Hogan Jr. and Harry J. Byrne, each a Democrat and each from St. Louis. Senator Hess' objection, presumably the same as that of the two others, was that the bill would "put the city in the parking lot business in opposition to private enterprise."

That is the same basic objection of the Association of Parking Lot Owners and Operators. But the object of the bill is to provide off-street parking facilities at the lowest possible cost. As we have said, though the parking field has been freely open to private operators for a long time, they have not met the need. In such a situation, neither they nor anyone else should object if the city moves to meet it.

Mr. Eames's Rocking Chair

We heard Charles Eames talk about modern design the other day, and what bothered us about his beautiful plastic-and-airframe rocking chair is the artistic validity of the whole rocking chair idea.

The purpose of sitting is rest, and the function served by a rocking chair is restlessness. When you mix the two, what have you got?

Mr. Eames has admittedly improved vastly upon the fumed-oak monstrosities of our childhood, but was the chair-in-motion concept, after all, one that called for revival?

There may be deep recesses of the mind which respond to rocking—something to do with an unconscious quest for the comfort of the womb, no doubt—but we are not at all sure that the rocker should not have been left to the merciful oblivion which has enveloped beaded portieres, alabaster lamp-bases and dining-room plate rails.

"WHEN DO WE HEAD SOUTH?"

From The Washington Post

While Missouri Bumps Along

The Mirror of Public Opinion

This state once had a national reputation for heading the procession of road builders, editorial asserts; leadership won battle for progress in '20s; today the sit-tight "Hammer and Padlock Club" rules; even if gas tax is increased 1 cent, neighbors still far ahead.

From The Kansas City Star

All around Missouri the states are pushing ahead to build highways. Some months ago the Illinois Legislature raised the state gasoline tax to 4 cents, effective immediately, and to 5 cents for Jan. 1, 1953. It faced the problem of building to carry the surge of truck traffic by adding $20,000,000 a year to truck fees. In January 1953, the trucks will start paying an additional $8,000,000 a year.

Kansas already has a 5-cent tax and it is building. Iowa is near the head of the procession of states with highway income to match and use available federal funds. Arkansas that once had a reputation for poor roads is going all-out to build in spite of its comparatively small registration of motor vehicles.

William R. Nelson

Here in the middle sits Missouri with a pitiful 2-cent gasoline tax and virtually the lowest truck fees in the United States. The great State of Missouri is tens of millions of dollars behind with its federal matching and is scraping the bottom of the barrel of funds for new construction.

Presumably the legislature is now prepared to add 1 cent to the gasoline tax and to make a substantial increase in truck fees.

If the legislature delivers everything that is in the cards Missouri will still be following, not leading, other states. It will come only grudgingly to the 3-cent tax that Illinois has now abandoned, the kind of tax that Kansas found inadequate years ago. The proposed truck fees simply attempt to catch up when other states are looking ahead.

This is the State of Missouri that once had a national reputation for heading the procession of highway builders.

In recent years Missouri has shown unusual progressiveness in other fields. Action on anything big and expensive like a highway program depends on leadership. For the last 15 years the strongest Missouri leadership has come from the static crowd.

All progress depends on the outcome of a running battle between the two types of people. You always have those that resist progress on every front, the people who are more concerned with a few dollars in the pocket than the whole future of a state or a city. In his day William Rockhill Nelson, The Star publisher, labeled these interests "The Hammer and Padlock club."

On the other side are the builders, the people who are ready to put their stakes on the future. When they win, a city or state moves ahead.

Through the early 1920s the Missouri highway battle was won by the builders and the eyes of the nation were on the state's progress. But the fight is never ended. In time complacency undermined the big citizens' organizations that had battled for highways. The Hammer and Padlock club gained control even of some groups that had once fought for progress.

The hope for a new era of highway building depends on revival of strong leadership that can organize on the side of the builders.

A House Cleaning Long Overdue

From The Baltimore Evening Sun

The Senate last week was informed of "serious irregularities" involving special intelligence agents of the Internal Revenue Bureau in Detroit.

At the same time, a House subcommittee was hearing testimony that James P. Finnegan, former St. Louis tax collector, got $6193 in fees from a firm set up to sell insurance to delinquent taxpayers.

Coming as they do in the wake of a number of suspensions of collectors, forced resignations and reports of corruption within the bureau, these developments indicate that the audit of income tax returns of all "front-line" employes of the bureau which has just been ordered is coming none too soon.

The newly named Commissioner of Internal Revenue, John B. Dunlap, says that he has been given a free hand to overhaul the bureau and wipe out any irregularities that he discovers. His is a responsibility that transcends just the business of smoking out the men within the bureau who have abused their positions of trust for personal gain.

That is important, but the importance of the task derives less from the fact that certain individuals may have been lining their own pockets illegally than it does from what their actions contribute to a loss of faith in the Government itself.

It is impossible to operate our society on any other assumption than that people are for the most part honest. It is a sound assumption, for they are.

But every now and then the actions of a few loom so large as to obscure this fundamental fact. As with a police force which loses the respect of the citizenry because of a few grafters, so with any agency of government.

The matter is particularly serious when the cry of "Who'll watch the watchmen" has to be raised over the bureau charged with collecting the nation's revenues.

A loss of faith in the Government strikes at the foundations of our society. That is why it is important that the house cleaning within the Bureau of Internal Revenue be both thorough and open to inspection.

Mr. Dunlap's heavy responsibility is to expose the few who have failed their trust and thereby both to vindicate the many who have not and restore that faith without which we cannot function as a society.

Comic Books in Korea

From The Milwaukee Journal

A. Tkatchenko, special correspondent of Pravda in Korea, has just made the startling discovery that the American soldier is armed "with a countless number of stupefying detective stories."

"In places frequented by the occupiers," he reports in Pravda, "little books with the most monstrous exhortations, such as 'Kill for the sake of pleasure,' 'Make the corpse dance,' etc., can be found."

"The literary slaves of Wall Street assiduously supply the army with such literature not solely for the amusement of the soldiers," he adds. "Its official role is precisely defined by the Pentagon—to indoctrinate the soldiers and officers with the insane idea that the earth and the planet is American."

This proves the ineffectiveness of Soviet intelligence and its lack of understanding of Americans. The American soldier is not "armed" with detective stories, as is well known.

He's armed with comic books and his home town paper. And comic books don't prove that Americans think they own the earth.

They prove only that some Americans like the fiction that ducks can talk and the idea that it's perfectly feasible to fly to the moon.

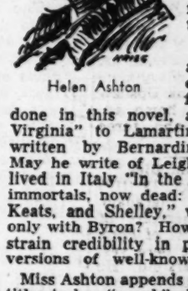
Between Book Ends

Fiction As Distorted Fact

LETTY LANDON, by Helen Ashton. (Dodd, Mead & Co., 306 pgs., $3.)

Howard Mumford Jones in The Saturday Review of Literature.

The ground rules of some sorts of commercial fiction—for example, the Western and the detective story—have been well worked out and, indeed, are modified only by the solemn assent of writers in annual sessions. The rules of some sorts of historical fiction were settled by convention in the nineteenth century. But, so far as I know, the rules for the fictionalized biography have not been codified, though I think they should be.



Helen Ashton

How far, for example, may the writer go in distorting fact? May he, as is done in this novel, attribute "Paul and Virginia" to Lamartine, whereas it was written by Bernardin de Saint-Pierre? May he write of Leigh Hunt that he had lived in Italy "in the twenties with three immortals, now dead: Lord Byron, John Keats, and Shelley," whereas Hunt lived only with Byron? How far may the writer strain credibility in presenting distorted versions of well-known historical facts?

Miss Ashton appends a bibliography of 30 titles to her "novel," plus some other matters, and yet as history her book is something less than trustworthy. Does the art of fiction gain? I think not, among informed readers, though the sentimentalist will not care.

Miss Ashton had considerable success with a book called "Parson Austen's Daughter," but there the heroine was Jane Austen and the conversations ready to hand in the novels and in the immortal letters. This time she has chosen a pale, ineffectual poetess of the period of the Regency and the Reform Bill, Letitia E. Landon, known as "L.E.L.," whose writings were, as Miss Ashton is forced to admit, a combination of hackwork and sentimentality. Around this passive figure the details of the literary life of the earlier nineteenth century are assembled.

Miss Landon knows, or comes to know, everybody. For no very clear reason she is maligned, and for no very clear reason George Maclean, the governor of the Gold Coast, falls in love with her, takes her off to Africa, proves something of a Rhett Butler in his surly masculinity, and she dies of a dose of poison. The central difficulty is that the heroine is without interest because she seldom acts but is usually acted upon.

It is evident that Miss Ashton has a genuine gift for narrative, but this is so hidden through most of the story beneath mounds of literary "information" and conversations which are essays in disguise, it does not appear in time to save her book from monotony. I suggest the formula is wrong.

Groves Revived

Readers who are familiar with Groves' cherished "Dictionary of Music and Musicians" will not need to be reminded of the brilliant articles on Beethoven, Schubert and Mendelssohn written by Sir George himself.

The dictionary was first published in 1878-79, and succeeding editions saw various revisions, but these three articles remained untouched. Now, however, they are to be replaced in a forthcoming edition to be edited by Eric Blom. This is a matter for regret, since Groves' verdict on the three masters hardly stands in need of revision. However, the publishers have made amends to Sir George in republishing his pieces (which are of permanent value) in this separate volume.

Those who know their Groves will alight on this book with happy fervor. Those who don't will find him a mine of scholarship and a monument of good critical taste. A basic item for the musician's library.

TRUMAN QUOTED AS HOPING TO STAY IN WHITE HOUSE

President Drops Hint to Members of Amvets That He May Run for Re-election.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—President Truman has dropped a hint he may run for re-election, members of Amvets said yesterday.

They said he told them he expects to be in the White House "a long while."

The President also made it plain he intends to retain Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray and that he resents the actions of those who pick on "his boys." The political hint came about this way:

The President was asked Thursday to support a proposal that the Federal Civil Defense Administration be made a permanent civilian part of the Government, under a Secretary of Civil Defense who would have Cabinet rank.

The request was made during a White House call by John L. Smith, newly-elected national commander of Amvets, and other members of the World War II veterans organization. The visitors said Truman told them that:

He agreed FCDA should be made a permanent agency.

It would remain in being as long as he was President.

He hopes to remain "here" in the White House a long while.

The Amvets asked for Gray's discharge on grounds that congressional investigations h a d shown "gross maladministration and gross inefficiency." They said Gray's "failures" were especially evident in, and dangerous to, the VA medical, education and insurance programs.

Following their White House call, the Amvet delegation told reporters Truman had warned them to "take it easy" because he was a "contrary person when people jump on my boys.'

METHODIST COUPLES STUDY FAMILY LIFE

Eleven St. Louis Delegates at National Conference in Chicago.

"We take courses in interior decorating, but we do not know how to put beauty into our inner life. We preserve the outer surfaces of the home, but cannot renew the inner forces of family affection."

The speaker was Bishop Hazen G. Werner opening the National Methodist Conference on Family Life yesterday in Chicago. He is bishop of the Methodist Church, Columbus, O.

Some 2500 young married couples from Methodist churches across the nation are taking part in the three-day conference at Medina Temple. The St. Louis delegation is led by the Rev. Delvis Roberts, pastor of the Clayton Methodist Church. Members of his group include Mrs. Roberts; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Kirk, 1 Kirthom lane, Webster Groves, members of Grace Church; three couples from Lafayette Park Church, Mr. and Mrs. Algha Lodwick, 4119A Potomac street; Mr. and Mrs. James Helton, Kimmswick, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Watts, 2856 Eads avenue, and Mrs. Joseph E. Wohlstadter, 3867 Shaw boulevard, a member of Shaw Avenue Church.

Church leaders and specialists in the field of family relations are on the program for speeches and group discussions.

"American young couples married less than one year offer a rather disturbing situation," said Bishop Werner. "Twenty-one per cent live with their parents, having no homes of their own. Forty-six per cent of the wives work to piece out the family income. In 1948, 58 per cent of the divorces involved couples with no children.

"The all-American question is whether members of the family stay in or go out. Witness the dramatic tug-of-war between TV and the movies. There are lonely adults who baby-sit in order to get into a home of people who hire them in order to get out.

"Our social survival depends on the family. The survival of religion depends upon the family. The low ebb of religious life generally is due to the low ebb of the spiritual life in the home."

ST. LOUIS BAPTIST ASSOCIATION MARKS ITS 134TH ANNIVERSARY

The St. Louis Baptist Association, marking its 134th anniversary, noted that it had grown from six churches in 1817 to 57 in 1951 with a total membership of more than 40,000.

The statistics of growth were reported by the Rev. Dr. Paul Weber, superintendent of Baptist Missions. The 134th annual session of the group was held last week at Maplewood Baptist Church, one of the largest churches in the association. Its pastor, the Rev. Homer E. DeLozier, was elected moderator.

The oldest church in the association is the Fee Fee Baptist Church of Pattonville, organized in 1807.

By JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"The Christian church in China is a little David facing a giant Goliath in armor—Communism," an American missionary expelled from China told Presbyterian church groups here this week.

"Twice in history the Christian church has been wiped out in China," the Rev. Dr. Theodore F. Romig said. "But the present church will survive. Today it is an indigenous church and the Chinese pastors are well trained. The Chinese Christians believe that a Communist can be converted."

Dr. Romig was born of Presbyterian missionary parents in China, was educated in the United States, and served as a missionary in Nanking. He left China in 1949 after six months under Communist rule. He now is associate professor of missions at McCormick Seminary, Chicago.

He spoke twice this week at the Webster Groves Presbyterian Church, to 200 members of the Men's Council at a dinner meeting, and 350 women at a luncheon.

"On the whole, what is taking place in China is rather a tragic story, but not wholly tragic," Dr. Romig said in his addresses.

"The tragedy for America is that we have made our policy toward China a political football. We are not developing our China policy on the basis of what is best for the future of China or the United States, but to gain political power.

"In 1938, when I went to China as a missionary, noble ideals were in the air, the spirit of sacrificial living was strong. But after Pearl Harbor disintegration set in—inflation, demoralization, corruption in high places.

"I saw Nationalist soldiers marching through an inch of snow, wearing straw sandals or no shoes at all. A third of the new army recruits each year died of malnutrition or disease.

"Chiang Kai-shek is an honest man and a good man. But he is unable to extricate himself from the ancient Confucianist pattern in which he is the ruler; he cannot accept the position of a representative of the people, their servant.

"Into the dismal void there swept a new movement, Communism, like a thunderstorm moving into a low-pressure area. Communism swept into China on a wave of fanatical nationalism, an upsurge of national dignity and honor. There was enthusiasm and hope on the part of the students as if Utopia was about to arrive.

"But poverty increased, with fear and apprehension among the majority, hope among other groups.

"There has appeared a military mentality that was absent from the old China. The Confucianist ideal scholar was a sedate, quiet old man who wore long fingernails to show he would do no work. Among the Communists the 'good teacher' is the leader of a guerrilla band or demolition squad."

Dr. Romig recommended two books on China: "The United States and China," by John T. Fairbanks of Harvard University, and "Next Steps in China," small book edited by Fairbanks to which three other writers contributed.

Dr. Romig was introduced to the Men's Council dinner by the Rev. Dr. Harry T. Scherer, pastor of the Webster Groves Presbyterian Church, who visited Dr. Romig in Nanking three years ago.

LUTHERANS STEP UP PUBLIC RELATIONS

St. Louisan Heads Information Service at National Offices Here.

The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, conservative in theology and dignified in worship, wants to be better known to non-Lutherans. So "information service" offices have been established in both New York and St. Louis, and district officers and 5000 pastors in the United States and Canada are trained to feed church news to press and radio.

Director of information in St. Louis is 25-year-old Paul J. Schulze, 1951 graduate of Concordia Seminary. Representing the Department of Public Relations, New York, he maintains offices in the new Lutheran Building at 210 North Broadway. His appointment to serve also as publicity director for the Lutheran Publicity Organization of St. Louis was announced yesterday.

A 1943 graduate of Beaumont High School, Schulze served as special correspondent for the St. Louis Lutheran while in the seminary.

Tomorrow his father, the Rev. Andrew Schulze of Chicago, will preach the sermon and preside when Paul Schulze is ordained into the ministry and installed as associate pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran Church for the Deaf.

The ordination will take place at 7:30 p.m. at St. Philip's Lutheran Church, Goode and St. Ferdinand avenues, where the Rev. Andrew Schulze was pastor for 19 years. It is a Negro congregation with a white pastor, the Rev. Walter Heyne.

When the Rev. Mr. Schulze was pastor, and his son was growing up in the parish, the only white members of the congregation were the pastor's family and a German woman.

Paul Schulze was instructed in sign language five years ago and at various times has assisted the Rev. Francis G. Gyle, minister of Holy Cross Church for the Deaf. Schulze will keep his publicity jobs.

'AVE MARIA' RECORDING BROADCAST FROM CHURCH AS CALL TO SAY ROSARY

RESIDENTS of the Lafayette-Compton avenues district on the south side hear the familiar strains of "Ave Maria" each evening at 7 o'clock.

Parishioners of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, Lafayette avenue and Longfellow boulevard (one block east of Compton), know that the music is broadcast from a record and is heard over a loud speaker in the tower of the church. Their pastor, the Rev. James Johnston, told them they would hear the "Ave Maria" and other hymns suitable to the honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary every evening in October at the same hour.

Hearing the hymns would remind his parishioners to say the family Rosary in their homes, Father Johnston said.

"The music," he added, "is also a reminder to those who are not saying the family Rosary that the Church is open and they are invited to kneel before the shrine of the Blessed Virgin and say the Rosary privately."

FOUR ATTEND COUNCIL OF CATHOLIC YOUTH

St. Louisans Among Delegates from 120 Dioceses at Cincinnati.

Four St. Louis Catholic youth leaders are delegates to the National Catholic Youth Council now in session at Cincinnati, Ohio. Delegates from more than 120 dioceses make up the council, which opened Thursday and will close tomorrow.

Composed entirely of young people, the council speaks for more than 6,000,000 Catholic youth in the country. The idea of a national council was given its mandate by the American bishops in 1937.

"The bishops realized that Catholic youth must assert themselves and their ideals if they are to assume their rightful place in the community," it was explained by Msgr. Joseph E. Schieder, director of the Youth Department, National Catholic Welfare Conference.

St. Louis delegates are Miss Carole Crowe, 5403 Claxton avenue; Miss Diane Klages, 6016 Louisiana avenue; Miss Marianne Klein, 3679 Montana avenue, and Eugene Mueth, 4973 Schollmeyer avenue. The Rev. Louis F. Meyer, assistant director of the Catholic Youth Council of the St. Louis archdiocese, accompanied the delegation to Cincinnati.

Pontificial mass will be celebrated tomorrow by Bishop Mark K. Carroll of Wichita, Kan., former pastor of the Old Cathedral and of St. Margaret's Church, St. Louis.

THURSDAY RECITALS RESUMED AT CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL

Alec Wyton, organist and choirmaster of Christ Church Cathedral, has resumed his Thursday noon organ recitals. They are played every Thursday at 12:15 p.m., and follow holy communion at 11:30 a.m. No offering is asked for, and annotated programs are provided without cost.

"The recitals provide half an hour of good music which city workers may listen to during their lunch hour," Wyton stated. The music ranges widely from the fifteenth century to the works of contemporary composers, and includes music of popular, educational and religious appeal.

Last year Wyton played 27 programs without repeating any number. His last program included: Pastorale by Bach; Concerto No. I in G Minor, Handel; Humoresque, Pietro Yon, and two chorale preludes by C. H. H. Parry.

Student-Pastor at St. Peter's.

Philip Desenis of Chicago, a middle-year student at Eden Seminary, this week started his service as student-pastor at St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed Church, St. Louis and Warne avenues.

LAYMEN HEAR PRELATE AT MISSION FOR MEN

Bishop Lichtenberger Says News Does Not Give 'Balanced View.'

Episcopal laymen of the St. Louis area are getting acquainted with their newly-elected bishop, the Rt. Rev. Arthur C. Lichtenberger, at the fourth annual Mission for Men now under way at St. Mark Church, Murdoch and Clifton avenues. He is the preacher of the mission.

Bishop Lichtenberger was professor of pastoral theology at General Theological Seminary, New York, before coming to St. Louis, and so was known to the clergy, but not to the laity here. He will become bishop of the Missouri Diocese when Bishop William Scarlett retires next year.

Bishop Lichtenberger opened the mission by reading a batch of newspaper clippings describing corruption in government and other crimes. "News does not give a balanced view of life," he said. "A newspaper man told me that a good news story must have one of three elements—money, conflict or sex. If it has all three it is a top story.

"The Christian is a man who can look honestly at himself as he is and not despair. He may say with Jeremy Taylor, 'I'm not a man; I'm a civil war.'

"God speaks through men who are humble enough to recognize their own need, their own failures and sin, and believing enough to be confident that God has a purpose for them in the world."

The mission opened Thursday night and will close at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

Notre Dame-SMU Resume Rivalry Before 57,000

'My Present Intention to Quit,' Joe DiMag Tells Head of Yanks

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—The question of whether Joe DiMaggio, whose spectacular career with the New York Yankees began 15 years ago, is going to retire, apparently had been settled today—the Clipper has made up his mind to quit.

He declined to come right out and say he was finished, but he made it plain before heading for California by plane last night that he was delaying the inevitable only in deference to the wishes of Yank President Dan Topping, with whom he talked for two hours yesterday.

"I have made up my mind to retire and that is my present intention," said the great outfielder. "I have given it considerable thought."

When DiMaggio entered Topping's office for the confab, he was ready to lay his cards on the table. Topping listened to the slugger and instead of just saying: "Ok, Joe, it's up to you," asked him to delay the decision for a time.

Told To Think It Over.

"You might feel differently a month from now," Topping told DiMaggio. "Why don't you go on your trip to Japan (where DiMaggio and teammates Billy Martin and Ed Lopat, along with Lefty O'Doul, will entertain the troups) and give this matter a little more thought."

DiMaggio agreed.

This prompted Arthur Patterson, the Yank's director of public relations to observe;

"As the situation stands now, things are pretty much up in the air."

What it all adds up to is that DiMaggio has retired but not officially. The chances are that he will make it stick, although he has changed his mind before.

That the Yanks and players themselves want DiMaggio back there is no doubt. He has been an inspiration to them throughout the years, and many are the rookies who merely have tried to look like him. As Manager Casey Stengel remarked after the Yanks won the World Series from the New York Giants:

"We couldn't have won without you, Joe!"

While he was in a slump in the beginning of the series, DiMaggio was downcast. He's a perfectionist and cannot tolerate himself not performing his best. At one point, someone told him he was valuable even if he were doing nothing—just an inspiration.

DiMaggio growled that nobody has a help to a team when he couldn't carry his share of the burden.

Not the Player He Was.

There is no denying that the Yanks would be willing to give Joe the same $100,000 he received this year if he decides to come back.

But his reasons for apparently calling it quits are compelling. He knows he is not the player he was, say three years ago, and that he is on the downgrade. With a lifetime batting average of .329, he hit only .262 the past season and clouted but 12 home runs.

For another thing, he has been bothered with physical ailments for some time, and realizes he needs the rest from the long, 154-game grind. It is becoming increasingly hard to take. In the field now, he has to make mighty efforts for flies he would have caught with no trouble in past years.

Whatever it is, the final announcement will come from Joe shortly after he returns from the tour.

Cleveland Club Increases Ticket Prices for 1952

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 13 (UP). THE Cleveland baseball club, which finished second in the American League this season, today announced increases in the prices of some tickets next year.

President Ellis Ryan said that the Office of Price Stabilization had granted the club an increase of 7 per cent, a fifth of which he said would be returned to the federal and city governments in taxes. This is the first increase for the Cleveland club since 1939.

Ryan said that box seat prices would be increased 25 cents, reserved seats 15 cents, and general admission tickets five cents while tickets for children, ladies' days, and the bleachers would remain the same. He said that Cleveland prices would still be lower than those in other major league cities.

Ryan said that increased expenses made the higher prices necessary. He said that the over-all operating costs had increased 35 per cent and the farm system expenses 200 per cent.

Essick Dead; He Signed DiMaggio And Other Aces

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13 (AP)—Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon for Bill Essick, 70-year-old retired scout for the world champion New York Yankees and discoverer of many of their stars.

Services will be held at Grace Chapel in the Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Essick, who died in his sleep yesterday, was credited with discovering or signing such luminaries as Joe Di Maggio, Lefty Gomez, Bob Meusel, Joe Gordon, Frank Crosetti, Myril Hoag and Johnny Lindell.

His death followed within a month that of another Yankee scout, Joe Devine, with whom Essick worked in scouring the west for the New York club. Essick, in failing health, retired last Jan. 1.

Last spring at a banquet the Yankee manager, Casey Stengel, gave both old timers a major share of credit for his team's triumphs.

"They rounded up the players," Stengel said, "and I just shooed 'em out on the field."

Good Time won the first heat in 2:02, beating out Dr. Stanton by 4¾ lengths, and paying $2.40. The time for the second heat was 2:01.6, with Theo A. Abbe second. A winning ticket paid $2.20.

Story of Tail-Tieing At Ohio Track Ends; Owner Is Still Out

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 13 (AP)—The tale of alleged tail-tieing at Hamilton race track came to an end yesterday with the final decision going against the man who brought the charge.

The State Racing Commission upheld the suspension by track stewards of G. T. Becknell, Emory, Tex., horse owner, for "conduct detrimental to racing." He had charged the tail of his odds-on favorite, Detroit Tiger, was tied to the starting gate at Hamilton last Aug. 22.

Not content at merely upholding the suspension, the commission extended it until Dec. 20. It said it had "reached the conclusion that tail-tieing or other improper practices alleged by Mr. Becknell actually did not occur."

The commission had held three public hearings on Becknell's charges. The assistant starter involved, Victor O. Swanson, whom Becknell charged tied his horse's tail, denied the accusation.

In its decision, the commission said that after "careful consideration of conflicting stories" and the "lack of credibility of certain persons" and the "improbability of the stories told," it was of the opinion no tail-tieing ever took place.

The commission said the evidence showed officials at the Hamilton meeting were "thoroughly competent, efficient and highly regarded."

Texans Yet To Triumph Over Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 13 (AP)—Notre Dame renews a sizzling football series with Southern Methodist today before a capacity crowd of 57,000 fans and millions of others on a coast-to-coast television hookup.

The game will be the fourth between the two intersectional rivals, with Notre Dame striving for its fourth victory.

The Irish defeated the Mustangs 20-14 in the first game ever played at Notre Dame Stadium in 1930.

In 1939, Notre Dame shaded the Dallas team 20-19. Two years ago at Dallas, Kyle Rote scored three S.M.U. touchdowns but Notre Dame managed a fourth period marker for a 27-20 triumph to end its season untied and unbeaten.

Notre Dame Has Power.

So far this season, the Irish, represented by its youngest team in a decade, are undefeated with lopsided victories over Indiana, 48-6, and Detroit, 40-6.

S.M.U., after losing 21-7 in the rain to George Tech and 7-0 to Ohio State, rebounded with a 34-0 rout of Missouri last week.

Notre Dame's starting lineup includes three sophomores and one freshman. Sixty per cent of the Irish's total of 500 yards rushing in two games has been rolled up by sophs or frosh. Leading the green horde are Fullback Neil Worden and Halfback Johnny Lattner.

S.M.U. is predominantly a passing team behind the aerial wizardry of Fred Benners. In 1949, Benners gained 54 yards on two passes in the final minutes against Notre Dame before time ran out.

The lineups:

Speedy Texas Favored to Take Oklahoma's Sooners.

DALLAS, Oct. 13 (AP)—Texas and Oklahoma, a couple of top teams any year, clash today and as usual it's one of the nation's big games.

It's always a colorful football contest and would pack the Cotton Bowl even if the boys were playing for peanuts. This time Texas is seeking to end an iron-fisted grip the Sooners have exercised for three years, meanwhile shoving up the ladder where it now is on the fourth rung.

Oklahoma, which fell down to No. 11 in the national rankings because of a 14-7 defeat at the hands of Texas A. and M. last week, can push back into the sun by upsetting Texas. And upset it would be because the Longhorns are heavy favorites to end the Sooner reign.

Both have men on the injury shelf but both have manpower aplenty, Oklahoma's, however, probably the greenest since the war.

Texas, a team with blinding speed and as tough as steerhide on defense, is equipped with a better offense than it has had in several years. Gib Dawson, Don Barton and Byron Townsend give the Longhorns a vicious running game, Dawson's the long-gainer type. The Texas pass offense would appear weak on the basis of its showing against three foes—only 83 yards—but the Longhorns use the aerial game sparingly and for the spot play. It has paid off with touchdowns.

The crowd will be 75,349—all the Cotton Bowl can hold.

OKLAHOMA.		TEXAS.
Ballard	L. E.	Williams
Weatherall	L. T.	Adams
Nelson	L. G.	Sewell
Catlin	C.	J. Barton
Roberts	R. G.	Milburn

Bears Expect Little Trouble From Southern Illinois Eleven

By Robert Morrison

Washington University's Bears, hopeful and unbeaten, are expected to add a third victory to their record today when they play the Southern Illinois University football team at Francis Field at 2 o'clock.

There is nothing to indicate that the Bears won't prolong their victory march, for Southern Illinois has been defeated in all three of its games so far.

Customarily wary from long years in the coaching game, Bear Coach Irv Uteritz has detected a gradual improvement in the Carbondale team in its progress through three defeats.

"It could be our luck to find Southern Illinois even more improved," he said.

But the visitors from Carbondale are a young team with relatively few experienced players, and they could not be expected to improve enough to beat the rather nifty Bear team.

Southern Illinois usually produces spirited, scrappy athletes but their defeats by Central Michigan (34-13), Illinois Normal (20-0) and Northern Illinois (14-7) definitely indicate a low ranking.

Washington's injured long-run ace, Jim Burst, is a doubtful starter, so the Bears may be lacking a bit of scoring power. But the yard - gaining maneuvers should be consistent, with Jim O'Hare replacing Burst at halfback and Angelo Lombardo returning to duty at fullback after having missed last week's game.

The Bears defeated Missouri Mines, 21-8, in their opener and then had a field day for the whole squad in 33-0 squelching of Central College of Fayette, Mo.

Gavilan and Janiro Sign for Oct. 31 Bout

DETROIT, Oct. 13 (UP) — Matchmaker Nick Londes announced yesterday that welterweight champion Kid Gavilan will meet Tony Janiro in a 10-round non-title bout at the Detroit Olympia, Oct. 31.

Londes said he tried to match Janiro with Rocky Graziano, but that Graziano had prior commitments and Gavilan was signed for an overweight bout.

Webb Tied for Second Place in Springfield Golf

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 13 (AP)—Leland (Duke) Gibson of Kansas City, and Pete Fleming of Hot Springs, Ark., shot 68s yesterday, five under par, to share the lead after the first round of the 54-hole $5000 Ozark open.

A stroke back were Horton Smith, P.G.A. secretary of Detroit, Gene Webb, St. Louis, and Ed (Porky) Oliver, Wilmington, Del., Ryder Cupper.

A stiff wind battled the golfers throughout the day but 24 broke par. It took 79 to qualify, and 77 golfers did. There'll be 18 holes today and 18 tomorrow.

At 70 were Max Evans, Detroit; Tommy Bolt, Durham, N.C.; Milton Marusic, Herkimer, N.Y.; John Suveges, Plymouth, Ind.; Dave Douglas, Newark, Del., and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill. Leading amateur at 72 was Eddie Skaggs of Wichita, Kan.

Winner and Loser of Bout Are Shelved for Long Period by Injuries

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (UP) — Chico Vejar, promising young Stamford, Conn., welterweight, was forced out of action for about two months today because of cuts suffered while winning a unanimous 10-round decision over Sonny Lou Volpe of New York last night.

Volpe, however, was sidelined for an even longer period after breaking his right thumb in the fifth round of their slugfest at St. Nicholas Arena, which was televised on a coast-to-coast network. Volpe is expected to be out of action for five months.

Vejar floored Volpe for a count of eight with a right to the jaw in the first round and for no-count with another right to the chin in the third. Although knocked down twice, Volpe, who is also 20, gave Vejar one of the toughest fights of his career.

Volpe weighed 144½ pounds, Vejar 146. The defeat was only Volpe's second in 15 pro fights. Volpe's best round was the eighth when he stunned Vejar but could not put him down.

Conqueror of Cochran Plays Stranahan Next

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 13 (AP) — National amateur champion Billy Maxwell and Frank Stranahan, the Toledo strong boy, are favored today to shoot their way into the final of the Willard Memorial Amateur Golf tournament.

To do it, each will have to win two more matches over the rugged 6740-yard, par 72 Hardscrabble Country Club course.

Maxwell, from Odessa, Tex., was paired against George Bigham, Stillwater, Okla., and Stranahan against Hillman Robbins, Memphis, in the morning quarter-finals.

Robbins eliminated Bob Cochran of St. Louis, 1 up, in the second round. Cochran was the tourney titlist in 1946. In the first round Cochran had to go 21 holes to get past Buster Reed of North Texas State College, Denton, Tex.

Colorado Favored to Win From Mizzou First Time Since 1937

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 13 (UP)—Buoyed by their 35-27 victory over Kansas last week, the Colorado Buffaloes are ready for today's meeting with Missouri, a team they haven't been able to beat since the days of Whizzer White.

The Buffs haven't beaten Missouri since 1937, losing 10 times to the Tigers since that year. In the past two seasons, Colorado came close but not quite enough with the Tigers always springing last-minute touchdowns on the Buffaloes.

Bigger than breaking the victory drouth against Missouri is the Buffs' goal of staying in the top bracket of the Big Seven race. With only tail-end clubs playing conference games, Colorado hopes to increase its lead to two full games before the tough battles with Oklahoma and Nebraska.

Colorado was rated a one to three touchdown favorite but Coach Dallas Ward tossed off those ratings in the light of past battles with the Tigers.

Meanwhile, in Columbia, Mo., it was reported that Sophomore Quarterback Bob Schoonmaker had been added to the Tiger traveling squad. Coach Don Faurot said he would use Schoonmaker only in spots if the youngster is needed. Jim Hook will be the starting quarterback.

Drake Fans Honor Bright; Johnny Celebrates With 4 Scores Against Detroit U.

DES MOINES, Oct. 13 (AP)—Drake's Johnny Bright, scoring four touchdowns last night, led his Bulldog mates to a 26-6 victory over the University of Detroit to appropriately celebrate "Johnny Bright Night."

It was Drake's fourth straight victory of the season and its second Missouri Valley Conference triumph.

Bright, the nation's all-time ground-gaining leader ran 202 yards and passed for 84 to boost his total to 5674 yards in his third year of college competition.

Here's what he did as the Bulldogs beat Detroit for the first time in four attempts:

In the first quarter, in four plays, passed 13 and 20 yards and plunged 16 yards in two tries to score.

In the second period, went over his left guard, cut back to the right and dashed 60 yards to score.

Carried or passed the ball on eight of 10 plays in the third quarter to move Drake 80 yards for a score, going eight around his right end for the touchdown.

Bulled over from the two in the last quarter for his fourth score.

In addition, the Negro back had a 72-yard touchdown pass to End Joe McClaran called back, and another pass good for 21 yards cancelled both by penalties.

Detroit's only score came on a desperation fourth down fourth quarter pass with 10 seconds of playing time remaining. The pass was from Halfback Dick Neveaux to Halfback Bob Bartush and covered 35 yards.

Prior to the start of the game, Bright was presented a plaque in recognition of his play with the Bulldogs.

Purdue Gambles and Loses.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 13 (AP) — There was a good loser's attitude today among the Purdue Boilermakers, who gambled and lost a 7-0 football game to Miami last night in just three minutes of play.

It was Purdue's ball on its own 39 with fourth down and a foot to go. The game was just two minutes old, but Coach Stu Holcomb electrified the Orange Bowl audience of 51,838 by hustling in orders for Quarterback Dale Samuels to make the gamble.

Samuels sent Jerry Thorpe into the line. Thorpe was smothered and that was all the opportunity Miami's Hurricanes needed.

After two line plays were halted, Frank Smith, the nimble halfback who beat Purdue last year with two touchdown runs, fled wide to the left and eluded a half-dozen pairs of grasping arms in a 39-yard run for the winning score. Elmer Tremont converted and that was it.

Purdue tried desperately to make up for its costly venture and threatened to score several times, but Miami's line held when it had to and the Hurricane clobbered the Purdue aerial attack by intercepting three passes from Samuels and another from Tom Redinger.

Villanova Routs Alabama.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct 13 (AP)—Fiercely charging Villanova crashed through Alabama's line to a 41-18 victory in an intersectional football game last night.

The victors outplayed the Southeastern Conference team all the way, and piled up the biggest score made against the Tide since Sewanee ran up a 54-4 tally in 1907.

'Bama, rated one of the strongest teams in the nation in preseason polls, now has lost three consecutive games. That hadn't happened to the groggy hosts since 1927.

Villanova turned three second-quarter Crimson fumbles into quick scores, and matched every Alabama touchdown when the SEC team came alive in the second half.

Three big fast backs tore the Tide line apart as the visitors accumulated a tremendous 421-yard total in rushing. The Crimsons could only muster 64. Passing gained Alabama 181 yards to 46 for Villanova.

Hadley Tech Athletes Gain 16th Consecutive Cross-Country Victory

Hadley Tech's cross-country runners gained their sixteenth consecutive victory when they won the East St. Louis invitational run at Grand Marais Park, yesterday. It was Hadley's third straight win in the race.

In winning, Hadley scored 77 points to 106 for Beaumont. Kirkwood tallied 108, East St. Louis 111, Wood River 136, Collinsville 149, Troy 182, Sumner 213, Alton 224, Granite City 276, Dupo 306, St. Louis U. High 317 and Roosevelt 332.

Rich Gregory of Sumner, Missouri state champion, was the individual winner in 9:54.9 for the one and nine-tenths mile, well behind his own record of 9:52.7 for the course. Lynn Romann of Granite City was second, followed by Jerry Moreland, Beaumont; Jack Greenshields, Wood River, and Ed Pelc, Belleville.

Hadley's winning team was made up of Gene Clodfelter, Rich Koch, Joe Wasmer, Don Roberts and Elmer Rudloff. James L. Hutton is the coach of the Hornets.

Illinois Favored Over Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP) — Undefeated Illinois met Syracuse for the first time in 31 years today in an intersectional football battle in Archbold Stadium.

The Illini, seventh-ranked in this week's Associated Press poll, ruled a two-touchdown favorite to hand Syracuse its second loss in four games. Illinois had registered victories over U.C.L.A. and Wisconsin.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—A total of 39 race horses in training brought $36,450 yesterday at the final day of the fall dispersal sales at Belmont Park. The average price was 934.60.

Top price of $6,700 was paid for Shallow Brook, a three-year-old gelded son of Coldstream-Evadne. The horse was bought by Hugh Dufford from the consignment of M. F. Drinkhouse.

Other prices ranged down to $100. Lack of enthusiastic bidding was attributed to actions of some owners who were reluctant to accept offers. Drinkhouse himself "bid in" eight horses from his consignment of 12.

The sale opened Thursday, with Hal Price Headley going to $30,000 for C. V. Whitney's Mr Trouble, a four-year-old Mahmoud colt.

Western Illinois Gains Fourth Straight Win

MACOMB, Ill., Oct. 13 (AP)—Unbeaten Western Illinois State College rolled up its fourth straight football victory and its second in I.I.A.C. play last night by trimming Illinois Normal 28-7 in an aerial show.

All touchdowns of the game were made on passes. Western connected on 18 out of 30 tosses for 180 yards and gained 152 rushing. Normal hit on 16 of 38 passes for 171 yards and was held to 53 on the ground.

Shaughnessy Is Winner.

PELHAM MANOR, N.Y., Oct 13 (AP) — Dick Shaughnessy of Dedham, Mass., won the annual New York Athletic Club invitation trap shoot when he broke 25 straight targets in a shootoff with Charles Pappas of New York. Both had 98s at the end of the 100-target event. Anthony Corallo of Westerly, R.I., captured the district handicap test by breaking 23 of 25 targets in a three-way shootoff with R. E. Cooley of Sommers, N.Y., and R. M. Nettleton of Southbury, Conn.

DeMar, Told to Quit Running 42 Years Ago, Finishes 31st In 1000th Race of His Career

BOSTON, Oct. 13 (UP)—Forty-two years ago, a wise, old doctor advised young Clarence De Mar to quit running in road races or he'd die of heart trouble.

The doctor died in 1911—of heart disease — and yesterday Grandpa De Mar, now a robust 63, ran his 1000th race, covering the 10 mile distance in a creditable 68 minutes, 48 seconds.

It mattered little to the crowd that the Reading printer and farmer finished thirty-first in the 42-man field behind winner Fred Cates, a graduate student at Springfield College in the Columbus day race sponsored by the Bevilacqua club. Cates's time was 54 minutes, 39 seconds.

Thousands of persons cheered the veteran marathoner as he plodded through the streets of the crowded north end district, running freely and easily though not with the speed of bygone years.

De Mar, seven-time winner of the Boston marathon, a 26-mile, 385-yard grind, began running in 1909 when he was a stripling of 21.

Coyle Upsets Favored Marquette, 26-13

Rynders Stars for Alton Club

By John J. Archibald

A win-hungry squad of Coyle High School players turned in one of the prep season's big upsets last night when it scored the school's first gridiron victory over Marquette, 26 to 13, on the Alton High field. The triumph was Coyle's fourth without a loss, and its second in Catholic League competition.

Coyle tore into its favored foes in the opening seconds of the game when Halfback Paul Finder got off on the first of his many impressive runs, and ran 19 yards to midfield. A series of pass interceptions by both teams prevented a score in the initial period, but Coyle outgained Marquette in the quarter, 102 yards to 8.

After twice being stopped within the Marquette 5-yard line in the second quarter, Jim Brethauer slipped around right end from the 10 to give Coyle its first touchdown. Bill Voss kicked an extra point.

Rynders Goes Over.

The surprised Marquette club, led by 1950 Illinois scoring champion Bob Rynders, roared back immediately. Rynders climaxed a 68-yard drive by bulling his way through the line from the eight for the touchdown. Bob Kilgo ran the extra point to tie the game at 7-7, which it remained until the second half.

In the third period, Don Merz, filling in at quarterback after George Smitth was injured early in the second quarter, intercepted a Marquette pass on the 50-yard line and sped to the 16 before being dragged down. On the next play, Finder twisted his way through a group of Marquette defensemen and, running within inches of the foul stripe for more than 10 yards, scored. The kick for extra point was wide, and Coyle led, 13 to 7.

Rynders and Kilgo again battled back for Coach Joe Stephan's team, and in four plays advanced 60 yards to the end zone. Rynders raced the last 17 yards with a sweep around right end. Coyle's line piled up the attempt for an extra point by running, however, and the score was again knotted.

Gang Up on Rynders.

Coyle's eager defense broke up a Marquette drive midway in the final quarter when they ganged up on Rynders who was fading back to pass on fourth down. Coyle took over on Marquette's 48, and after a three-yard ground gain, Merz passed 15 yards to Finder to put the ball on the 30. Merz then heaved a high spiral again and John Smith, brother of the injured quarterback, leaped high from the midst of two Marquette players and pulled down the pass in the end zone. Bill Voss kicked the point and Coyle led, 20 to 13.

A Marquette desperation drive that carried the Explorers to the Coyle 20 was shattered when Kurt Matthews picked up a Marquette fumble and sprinted 75 yards to another Coyle touchdown in the closing minute.

Nose to Nose---It's a Dead Heat

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

The automatic camera came up with the answer in the first race at Garden State Park and it was a dead heat, the first of the meeting. GREEN'S FOLLY (No. 1) and VELARK (No. 9) are shown finishing nose to nose across the electric finish line. Green's Folly paid $8.20 and Velark $13.20 out of the winners' pool. ROUNDHOUSE (No. 6), with some distortion in the picture, finished third.

Hill Prince, With 124 Pounds, Favored to Repeat in Gold Cup

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (UP)—Hill Prince, "horse of the year" in 1950, was favored at 4 to 5 in a field of six crack handicap horses today to win the $50,000 Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont Park for the second straight year.

The big bay colt, owned by Christopher T. Chenery of Richmond, Va., has made a successful comeback after being out of racing for eight months this year because of an injury suffered at Santa Anita in January.

In his last start, Hill Prince scored an impressive victory in the $25,000 New York Handicap. It was only his third start of the year and he appeared in top shape. The Gold Cup is a stern distance test over two miles.

Hill Prince, who was juvenile champion of 1949, clinched the "horse of the year" title as well as the 3-year-old championship by winning the Gold Cup last year. In that race, he scored a four-length victory over Noor, who had beaten the great Citation four times.

The five other horses entered against Hill Prince today were Counterpoint, County Delight, Kiss Me Kate, Lone Eagle and Mirabeau.

Because the Gold Cup is run under weight-for-age conditions, Hill Prince will carry scale weight of 124 pounds, the same as County Delight, Lone Eagle and Mirabeau. Counterpoint, a 3-year-old colt, will shoulder only 117 pounds, and Kiss Me Kate, a 3-year-old filly, gets in at 114.

Eddie Arcaro, who won the Gold Cup when only 19 with Firethorn in 1935, will ride Hill Prince. He was aboard "the Prince" in last year's Gold Cup victory and also won with Pavot in 1946 and Citation in 1948.

Hill Prince's toughest opposition is expected to come from Counterpoint, a son of Count Fleet.

Johnston City Beats Zeigler

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill., Oct. 13 (AP)—Paul Smith picked up 155 yards in 15 running plays alone to lead the Johnston City High School to a 25-7 victory over Zeigler High School's football team last night.

Smith scored two touchdowns, one on a 60-yard run in the final quarter. The other was a 17-yard dash in the second period.

KEWANEE, Ill., Oct. 13 (AP)—Kewanee cinched a tie in the Northwest High School Football Conference last night, downing Rock Island, 20 to 10, on a second half rally. It was the fifth straight win for the Kewanee team, which had trailed 10 to 0 midway in the third quarter.

Mickey Bates scored the first Kewanee touchdown on a 47-yard run. Bob Lee kicked the point. The second Kewanee score came in the fourth quarter, with Emerit Lindbeck going over from the one after a 31-yard march. Lee again scored the conversion.

A 30-yard pass from Lindbeck to Duane White accounted for Kewanee's third touchdown.

Eight Schools Enter Louisiana High Tourney

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISIANA, Mo., Oct. 13—Eight schools have accepted invitations to compete in the twelfth annual Louisiana High School basketball tournament here, Jan. 8-12.

Entered so far are Jennings, Affton and Mehlville from the St. Louis district, Desloge, Wellsville, Hannibal, Montgomery and Illinois School for Deaf at Jacksonville.

Stand That Stands.

HALLANDALE, Fla., Oct. 13 (AP)—Gulfstream Park here claims to have the only cantilever stand on the turf with no posts to interfere with the vision of more than 9000 guests. The roof is built on the principle of a huge airplane wing and has withstood many a hurricane. During guests of wind that reached up to 125 miles an hour, instruments revealed that the roof swayed no more than one-sixtieth of an inch.

No Sacrificial Lamb.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13 (AP)—Ted Kluszewski, first baseman for the Cincinnati Reds, has yet to register his initial sacrifice hit in the major leagues. In his career, both minor and major league, big Ted has sacrificed only once. That was with Columbia, S. C., of the Sally League during his first year of pro ball in 1946.

EXECUTIVES OF TV AND RADIO ASSAIL CENSORSHIP RULES

Resolutions Criticize Orders by Truman and California Crime Commission.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Television and radio executives adopted resolutions yesterday condemning what they considered censorship orders of President Truman and the newly organized California Crime Commission.

The resolutions were passed at the conclusion of a two-day meeting of the Fifteenth District National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters. The district includes northern California and Nevada.

Referring to the presidential order extending security regulations to all federal civilian agencies, one resolution said it "gives the heads of various agencies the right of censorship without setting up necessary machinery to safeguard the principles inherent in our democratic system as set forth in the Constitution of the United States."

The second resolution criticized the crime commission's order which prohibits radio and television broadcasts of the commission's hearings. This order prevents broadcasters from "enjoying the same privileges as other press or information services with respect to providing news coverage of their public meetings," the resolution asserted.

Curbs Should Be Subject to Review, New York Times Editor Says.

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 13 (AP)—Government curbs on information for press and radio should be subject to review, Turner Catledge, executive managing editor of the New York Times, said yesterday.

He said any information curbs "should be made subject to some sort of review by persons not directly concerned with the Administration."

Catledge spoke at a conference on communications sponsored by Northwestern University.

He devoted a large part of his address to comments on President Truman's recent order extending to all federal agencies which handle military information the type security in effect in the Defense and State Departments.

"In these critical days," Catledge said, "there is an accentuation of a very sinister factor—namely, the disposition of public officials to use a legitimate desire for security as a reason for taking behind the curtain transactions which the people need most to know and understand."

Catledge outlined the type of precautions he thinks the press should take to guard against "unreasonable restrictions" on the gathering of government news.

"We should demand and require most of all that security regulations and classifications be justified in the light of the larger purposes to be served," he said.

"We should insist that basic decisions on withholding information be made by competent authorities who must take the responsibility before the electorate for their acts."

He said such curbs should be "revised or at least renewed from time to time, so that in seeking their renewal officials must justify them both in principle and in practice."

Catledge suggested the establishment of an agency, composed of both military and civilian representatives, "to which the press could appeal when decisions to withhold facts are found to be arbitrary rules, unworkable or unwise."

BRITISH MEAT RATION CUT; EFFECTIVE BEFORE ELECTION

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The British Government, replying to criticism that it was playing politics with the nation's meat supplies, announced last night a new cut in the ration—to take effect four days before the Oct. 25 election.

The reduction will slice the ration from one shilling 10 pence (25 cents) to one shilling seven pence (22 cents). The present quota works out at about one chop-per-person per week.

The meat ration had risen to two shillings two pence (30 cents) last month. Politicians opposed to the Socialist government said the ration had been inflated for electioneering purposes.

$2875 IN GEMS RETURNED TO SWINDLED JEWELER

The return of $2875 worth of jewelry to Homer Butterfield, Collinsville jewelery who lost it to a confidence man in 1947, was ordered yesterday by United States District Judge Charles G. Briggle at Springfield, Ill.

Vincent Serra, convicted of operating a confidence game, obtained the jewelry from Butterfield by posing as an uncle of a prominent Collinsville resident. He was sentenced to five years in prison Sept. 8, 1947.

Judge Briggle overruled claims of Ira Michelson, Cairo (Ill.) jeweler, and Ben Milgrim, Joplin (Mo.) pawnbrower, who said they bought the jewelry for $450.

CARTHAGE MAN PLEADS GUILTY OF VOTE-BUYING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 13 (AP) — A Carthage (Mo.) junk dealer pleaded guilty yesterday of vote buying and was promptly accused of "taking the rap" for others.

The defendant is James Madison Owen, Republican leader and former city councilman. Owen pleaded guilty in United States district court to charges of paying $2 each to 27 voters to cast their ballots for Republican candidates in the 1950 general election.

Assistant United States District Attorney Davis Thompson said others were involved in the case but Owen would not "co-operate" in helping convict them. He added: "This defendant is taking the rap for them."

Judge Albert Ridge ordered a pre-sentencing investigation. Maximum penalty for vote fraud is five years in prison, or $5000 fine, or both.

In court, Thompson said Owen and a Negro assistant, William Wyatt, set out on election day with $100.

"Owen wanted to pay $1 for votes," Thompson said, "but Wyatt told him, 'Hell, you can't buy these votes for $1.' So Owen said: 'All right, then, we'll pay them $2.'" 3 Jailed, 18 Others Fined in Alabama Ballot Box Stuffing.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 13 (AP)—Three leaders got jail sentences and 18 others were fined as the Federal Government cracked down on a ballot box stuffing ring yesterday. United States District Judge Daniel H. Thomas passed sentence after the 21 pleaded either guilty or nolo contendere (no defense). The fines ranged from $50 to $2000 and totaled $7800.

Peter V. Crolich Sr., a cafe operator whom the Government called the mastermind of a vicious election racket, got 18 months in prison and was fined $2000. Two other cafe operators, Ray W. Fairchild and C. J. Holman, received sentences of a year and a day and were fined $750 each.

The Government contended that Crolich and the other defendants impersonated legal voters and stuffed the ballot box in the May 1950 Alabama Democratic primary.

TEXAS DEMOCRATIC LEADERS SKIP PRO-TRUMAN BREAKFAST

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 13 (AP)—Texas Democratic party organization big wheels were unanimously absent at a strategy conference breakfast put on by pro-Truman Democrats here today.

Major business was organization of the breakfast-sponsoring liberal faction of Texas Democrats to throttle renewed threat of "states' rights" Democrats to fight renomination of President Truman.

The breakfast was called after Gov. Shivers publicly expressed preference for an uninstructed delegation from Texas to next year's presidential convention. Sources close to state party leaders have indicated they will carry on a last-ditch fight against Truman within the party but will not bolt the party. The breakfast sponsors call themselves the "volunteer Democrats."

STEELS STAND OUT AS STOCKS EDGE UPWARD

Associated Press Average of 60 Stocks Makes New 21-Year Top of $101.40.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—The stock market moved ahead today to a new 1951 high average in fairly active trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 30c at $101.40, a dime above the previous high set last Monday.

There was nothing spectacular in the two-hour session, but good progress was made all around. Gains extended to around a point among leaders—with few going higher—and losses were in the smaller fractional range.

Sales of 750,000 shares for the two-hour session compared with 757,000 last Saturday.

Some of the business today carried over the Columbus day holiday yesterday. This was indicated by the larger than usual number of blocks hitting the tape in early stages of trading.

Steels were the most active major group, and prices were higher. Youngstown Sheet & Tube was the most active in that section and a little more than a point higher. U. S. Steel joined in the upturn.

Utilities held steady, rails narrowly mixed, motors quiet and mixed- non-ferrous metals higher, golds mostly higher, aircrafts up, and chemicals mixed.

Amerada opened on a block of 1,000 shares up 4 at 151, moved up another point to a new 1951 high, and then fell back a little under the best. It this week reported its third wildcat oil well in the Williston Basin in North Dakota.

Montana-Dakota Utilities, which does business in the big Williston Basin area, also was active and up fractionally.

The market started fast and a little higher with some of the low-priced stocks showing a burst of activity. They simmered down shortly, however, with steels moving into the spotlight near the close.

The market this week reached a new 1951 high Monday and then fell back two straight days. It was up again Thursday with a good display of strength before the Friday holiday.

Stocks gaining today included Follansbee Steel, Chrysler, International Telephone, Southern Pacific, Gulf Oil, Anaconda Copper, McIntyre-Porcupine, du Pont, International Paper, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Boeing, and Douglas.

The curb market was mostly higher including Humble Oil, Singer Mfg., Venezuela Syndicate, American Writing Paper, Barium Steel, Colon Development, Creole Petroleum, and Giant Yellowknife Gold.

The corporate bond market was mixed and quiet.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Corporate bonds developed a mixture of small gains and losses in desultory trading in the short two-hour session today.

Many railroad obligations were unchanged from levels prevailing before the Columbus day holiday. A few utilities moved somewhat lower.

COMMODITY INDEX IS LOWER AFTER FIVE WEEK RISE

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Wholesale commodity prices, after advancing slowly for five weeks in a row, turned downward on average this week, according to the Associated Press index. At 193.20 the index compared with 193.68 last weekend and 188.53 a year ago. In this index of 35 important wholesale commodity prices, the base year 1926 equals 100.

Price drops in wool and livestock were chiefly responsible for the decline, although the industrial group of commodities also ended lower.

The food and grains and cotton components finished slightly higher, while nonferrous metals held unchanged.

COTTON OFF 5 TO 85C

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—A slightly easier price structure prevailed in cotton futures today. An accumulation of hedge selling orders over the holiday accounted for much of the softness. Traders were also expecting further hedges on Monday. The volume of business, however, was small.

Trade dealers bought but this demand was limited to scale down orders. The 1951 October delivery ruled independently steady. This was due to covering by shorts prior to expiration of trading in futures.

ARGENTINE CROP NEWS BOOSTS WHEAT PRICE

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP) — Private wires emphasizing damage to the upcoming wheat crop in Argentina, plus the prospect of large sales to Spain next week, sent wheat prices spiraling upward on the Board of Trade today. Demand for the bread cereal became very aggressive on the advance.

Corn also showed some strength, although not as much as wheat. The rest of the market was firm. The buying movement came around midway in the session, prior to which the market had tended a little lower, particularly on soybeans and corn.

The trade heard that Spain would be in the market next week for 100,000 long tons of American wheat. This would equal 3,700,000 bushels, a fairly large quantity. More important in the advance, traders felt, was a wire stating the wheat crop in Cordova and Santa Fe, Argentina, promises to be lost because of unfavorable weather.

Reports from Canada said that country was experiencing high yields and low grades in its wheat harvest. Canadian grains were quite firm yesterday while American markets were closed.

The Canadian National Railways said, "at least a month of good weather is required to complete harvesting of the 1951 crop . . . at many points throughout Saskatchewan thel and is still too wet to carry modern harvesting machines."

WILLIAM AND MARY EX-HEAD NAMED TO ART GALLERY POST

SAN MARINO, Calif., Oct. 13 (AP)—Dr. John E. Pomfret, who resigned as the president of the College of William and Mary in the wake of a sports scandal, has been appointed director of the Henry E. Huntington library and art gallery here.

The institution, on a 200-acre site, is one of the country's most noted research libraries and art galleries. It was established by the late railroad magnate, Henry E. Huntington, and contains millions of dollars worth of art, rare books, manuscripts and other items.

Dr. Pomfret succeeds Dr. J. E. Wallace Sterling, who resigned as director to become president of Stanford University in 1949. The post here has been vacant since that time.

LICENSE GRANTED MEN-ONLY BAR IN WAYNE COUNTY, ILL.

FAIRFIELD, Ill., Oct. 13 (AP)—A license was granted yesterday for the first saloon in Wayne county in nearly half a century but—it was for men only.

This southern Illinois county, which spawned the notorious Shelton gang, has been officially dry for years but no one ever really took it seriously.

Nineteen of the 20 townships, under local option, voted dry. As an extra safeguard against the possibility of taverns in the wet township county supervisors years ago decided to stick a tavern operator $5000 for a license, permitting services to men only between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. To serve women, too, would call for another $5000 fee.

Yesterday the supervisors had an application for a men's only license, and Verl Stewart, county liquor commissioner, granted it. It went to Clayton Morgan, a former filling station operator here, and H. L. Smith, a salesman.

Although women are barred, the applicants have indicated they may seek a court test to determine whether the county's discrimination between sexes at a bar is constitutional.

LOCKED OUT ROOMER GETS BELONGINGS, $250 DAMAGES

Miss Helen Donohue, a hospital attendant, who charged in a suit that she had been locked out of her room at 4224 Maryland avenue, recovered her belongings yesterday, but only after they had been hauled in and out of three magistrate court rooms in the Civil Courts Building.

Her possessions—clothes, cooking utensils, food, a radio and six bottles of a soft drink—were turned back to her on order of Magistrate James Royal, who awarded her $250 damages in her tresspass suit against the landlady, Mrs. Mae Henderson.

The boxes of possessions started their transit of the building when Mrs. Henderson lugged them up to Magistrate James H. Deneefe's courtroom. A change of venue was demanded and the boxes and witnesses moved to Magistrate Joseph Collin's room. He was busy, so Royal heard the case, including testimony that a chain was placed on the door of Miss Donohue's room July 25, barring her from her lodgings.

SERVICES AT FATIMA MARK END OF HOLY YEAR EXTENSION

LISBON, Oct. 13 (AP)—A vast throng of Roman Catholic pilgrims at the little town of Fatima participated in overnight services that mark the official ending of the 1951 world extension of the 1950 holy year.

Cardinal Manoel Goncalves Cerejeira of Lisbon headed a three-mile long procession which began at 10 p.m. At midnight a message from Pope Pius was read announcing that the plenary holy year indulgences were granted to all who made the pilgrimage.

U.S. SIFTS INCOME OF 10 IN NEW YORK REVENUE OFFICE

Collector Says if Sources Are Questionable, 'We Intend to Do Something About It.'

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—An investigation has been started into the income sources of "10 or 12 employes" of New York's third internal revenue district.

Monroe D. Dowling, collector for the wealthy, Manhattan district, said yesterday that "if the sources of income of the employes under investigation are questionable, we intend to do something about it."

The district, embracing all Manhattan north of Thirty-fourth street, has an annual collection of nearly three billion dollars in taxes.

Dowling said the income tax returns of all the nearly 800 employes in the office are being investigated, but that the "10 or 12" are being investigated specifically as to their income sources.

Dowling said also that since he assumed office Aug. 17 twenty employes have resigned or retired on disability, but that no dishonesty was involved in their cases.

Dowling succeeded James W. Johnson, who was automatically ousted when President Truman sent Dowling's nomination to the Senate. Both are Negroes.

Previously, Johnson had refused to quit even after the Treasury Department demanded his resignation on the ground of inefficiency.

"They investigated me for five years on my tax returns," Dowling said, "and there's no reason why everyone else in the bureau shouldn't be investigated."

PAY RISE AT RUBBER PLANT

About 300 production employes of the Midwest Rubber Reclaiming Co., Monsanto, will receive wage increases from an average of $1.57 to $1.70 an hour under a union contract negotiated by the CIO United Rubber Workers Union, it was announced yesterday.

The agreement is subject to approval by the Wage Stabilization Board. A full union shop also was provided. Also covered are about 150 employes of the firm's plant at Barberton, O.

SENATORS TO HEAR STASSEN FIFTH TIME ON CHINA

He Is Expected to Deal Again With Roundtable Discussion—Wallace to Appear.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen will testify Monday for the fifth time in his running controversy with the State Department over China policy.

Senator Sparkman (Dem.), Alabama, announced today that a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee he heads has granted Stassen's request to make a second appearance before that group.

Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania and a former Republican governor of Minnesota, has been before the Senate's internal security subcommittee three times.

Jessup Nomination.

Last Monday Stassen told that subcommittee Jessup gave it false testimony in declaring under oath that the United States "has never considered recognition of Communist China." Earlier Jessup had said Stassen made erroneous sworn statements about him.

Stassen went back before the internal security subcommittee yesterday and again challenged the accuracy of Jessup's testimony that neither he (Jessup) nor the State Department generally has ever considered recognition of Red China to the extent of favoring it.

Indications are that Stassen will deal again with a controversial roundtable conference on China policy sponsored by the State Department Oct. 6-8, 1949.

Tells of Prevailing Group.

Stassen has said a "prevailing group" at the conference, which he attended, advocated steps which would "hasten the victory of the Communists" in China.

The department made the transcript of the conference public Thursday and said Stassen was "factually incorrect" in his description of it. Stassen, on the other hand, said the transcript "proved the truth" of his description of it.

Stassen has charged that the prevailing group in formation of China policy has turned attention to India to undermine Nehru in the manner in which he said Chiang Kai-shek was undermined in China.

The Internal Security subcommittee, checking for any subversive influences on United States Far Eastern policy, will swing back next week to Henry Wallace's 1944 mission to China.

Chairman McCarran (Dem.), Nevada, told reporters today the subcommittee has scheduled an open hearing for next Wednesday to take testimony from the former Vice President and from Joseph Alsop, a newspaper columnist.

Both Wallace and Alsop have asked to be heard in answer to the sworn charge of former Communist Louis Budenz that Wallace's cabled recommendations from China were in accord with the Communist line of the time.

Denial by Wallace.

Wallace, denying this, said the proposals he made to the late President Roosevelt were "the opposite of pro-Communist" and sprang from a desire to help Chiang Kai-shek, the Chinese Nationalist leader.

Alsop, who was on the staff of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault at the time, wrote McCarran that he had a part in certain events in China "which prove that Budenz has lied to your committee."

McCarran said Alsop first will be questioned at a closed hearing Tuesday. The subcommittee met with Wallace behind closed doors earlier this week.

Kenneth W. Colegrove, Northwestern University professor and, like Stassen, a participant in the conference, also testified that the transcript substantiated his earlier assertions that the meeting was dominated by a group sympathetic to Red China.

In Manchester, N.H., last night, the president of the American China Policy Association—which has been a bitter critic of the Administration's China policy—said the conference had been "rigged" to exclude those opposed to recognition of Red China.

William Loeb, publisher of the Manchester Union-Leader, said in a statement that the State Department failed to answer the association's request to be included in the talks until the sessions were ended.

Major Issue.

One major issue in the dispute over China policy, as well as in the pending nomination of Jessup, is the State Department's past attitude toward the recognition of Red China.

The State Department said a majority of the 25 non-government persons who participated in the roundtable were inclined toward eventual United States recognition of Red China but the department declared it had never pursued that policy.

Denies 10-Point Program.

It also denied there had been any prevailing group or 10-point program at the conference.

The foreign relations subcommittee considering Jessup's nomination for the U.N. post is to meet again Monday, and Chairman Sparkman (Dem.), Alabama, told reporters he would like to get a vote on the appointment then.

He said, however, that Stassen has asked to be heard again, advising him he has important new evidence to present. Sparkman said that although he is anxious to get action on the nomination, he will not oppose recalling Stassen if the other subcommittee members wish to do so.

Senator Brewster (Rep.), Maine, one of the committee members, said he thought that Stassen should be given an opportunity to offer any new evidence he has.

Sparkman said that is likely to be in next week and that unless prompt committee action is taken, Jessup's nomination may be "run over in a stampede to go home."

RED HERRING FLEET TURNS UP AGAIN FOR BRITISH MANEUVERS

BURRA FIRTH, Scotland, Oct. 13 (AP)—A Russian fishing fleet, which moves quietly into British waters when the Royal Navy holds its exercises, turned up on schedule today off the Shetland islands—in the middle of a new naval maneuver.

Thirteen Soviet vessels, ostensibly in search of herring, anchored in Burra Firth off the island of Unst. There were two ships of about 10,000 tons and 11 smaller vessels, all flying the hammer and sickle.

The Royal Navy has had 40 ships, including two aircraft carriers, a cruiser, destroyers, frigates, submarines and auxiliary vessels maneuvering in the north western approaches of the Shetlands since last Wednesday.

Naval observers said a similar fleet of Soviet fishing vessels turned up quietly in May 1950 in the English channel just as naval exercises were scheduled to start. They came back again last April when further naval maneuvers got under way.

LATTIMORE SAYS STASSEN OWES HIM RETRACTION

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13 (AP)—Owen Lattimore today suggested Harold E. Stassen ought to retract his statements that Lattimore led a group which advocated early recognition of Communist China in 1949.

Lattimore's statement was in the form of a letter he wrote yesterday to Stassen. It was released this morning through his office at Johns Hopkins University, where Lattimore is head of the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations.

"I am amazed you . . . did not do me the justice of a full retraction," Lattimore wrote Stassen.

He referred to Stassen's appearance in Washington yesterday before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, now investigating the formulation of this country's policy toward China.

Stassen had told the committee previously that Lattimore headed the prevailing group at a 1949 State Department roundtable conference on China policy. Stassen charged the Lattimore group urged a 10-point program favorable to Communist China.

The State Department released a transcript of the 1949 conference, saying it showed Stassen's account of the meeting was "factually incorrect." Stassen, in new testimony yesterday, told the committee the transcript bore out his earlier statements.

Lattimore wrote Stassen: "Since you repeated this morning (Friday) the 10 points you still describe as 'the Lattimore program,' will you be god enough to point out to me where in the record I took the position you describe?"

NEGRO DEMOCRAT ENTERS LOUISIANA GOVERNOR'S RACE

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 13 (AP)—For the first time a Negro has qualified as a gubernatorial candidate in the Louisiana Democratic primary.

Action of the Democratic State Central Committee Oct. 2 in dropping a requirement that a voter or candidate "shall be a white person," opened the way for Kermit Parker of New Orleans to qualify.

A 40-year-old pharmacist and a commissioner of the state industrial school for colored youths, Parker posted his $150 fee with Committee Secretary Jesse Webb yesterday to join eight white Democrats and one Republican in the governor's race.

160 PATIENTS IN ONE PLANE

TOKYO, Oct. 13 (AP)—A huge Globemaster plane yesterday flew 160 wounded and sick United States Eighth Army troops from Korea to Japan—a new record for a single flight.

The previous high was 127 patients.

It was an investigation by the Post-Dispatch of Finnegan's conduct in office that led to disclosures by this newspaper that he and his good friend, William M. Boyle Jr., chairman of the Democratic National Committee, were on the Lithofold payroll.

The company's application for loans from the RFC had been rejected three timees before Finnegan and Boyle went on the payroll. After their employment, the RFC granted the first of a series of loans aggregating $565,000. The company paid Boyle $500 a month and still pays Finnegan $1250 a month.

Finnegan's services to American Lithofold, the indictment charged, consisted of aid to the firm by appearing before the RFC and conferring with its officers on behalf of Lithofold in efforts to get the loans approved.

In addition to the $45,000 which he has admitted receiving from Lithofold in salary and expenses, Finnegan testified his gross receipts from his law practice were $36,700 in 1947, $30,800 in 1948 and $37,400 in 1949. He also was receiving at this time $10,500 a year as revenue collector. His revelations of his outside activities, at a time when he was devoting from two to four hours a day to his official duties, have prompted the Internal Revenue Bureau to demand a promise from new appointees that they will give full time to the office.

Finnegan was appointed to the post by the late President Roosevelt in 1944. An investigation of the office was ordered in May 1950, after complaints began coming to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in April of that year.

Former Agents Charges.

The investigation was spurred by charges of a retired intelligence unit agent, Robert L. Sharp, who wrote Judge Moore that certain income tax violation cases here had been "fixed" and that tax violators, represented by lawyers friendly with President Truman and Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder were not prosecuted "vigorously."

The grand jury which indicted Finnegan this week reported to Judge Moore on March 22 that it had been unable to find any evidence of "fixing" of income tax prosecutions. Angered by the report, the judge refused to discharge the jury, and a month later, on April 30, issued a blistering charge for a sweeping investigation of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The grand jury is now in recess, subject to recall. Thomas E. DeWolfe, a special United States attorney general, asked that the jury be kept on call to investigate a number of collateral cases, with the background of which it is familiar.

Rarely in Court.

Despite a rather large income from his law practice, Finnegan rarely appears in court as an attorney. He explained that he was always retained as a legal consultant. He makes frequent trips to Washington and Florida, where he consults with influential friends like Boyle, E. Merl Young, Rex Jacobs and others.

A graduate of St. Louis University law school, he began practicing law in 1922. He became a police court judge under former Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann. He was elected prosecuting attorney in 1934 and was re-elected in 1938. In taking over the collector's post, he succeeded the late Robert E. Hannegan.

ITALIAN POLICE BALK RED-LED ATTEMPT TO SEIZE ESTATES

BARI, Italy, Oct. 13 (AP) — Communist-led peasants trying to occupy former estates of an Italian countess clashed with police yesterday near Matera, south of Bari. There were no casualties, but 13 persons were arrested.

A mob demanding the release of those held gathered last night in Matera's main square but was dispersed by the police.

Lands belonging to the Countess of Nugent have been expropriated by the Rome government as part of the split-up of big estates under the national Agrarian reform program.

The new Red-sponsored plan to occupy the lands prematurely is considered here the first result of a visit to southern Italy by Luigi Longo, regarded as head of the Italian Communist underground "army." The government began last Sunday to divide expropriated estates among landless peasants in the neighboring region of Calabria.

NEW CONTEMPT TRIAL FOR JOSEPH P. KAMP

Granted by Judge Because of Possible Prejudice by Jury Foreman.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (UP)—Joseph P. Kamp, convicted of contempt of Congress last June, has been granted a new trial because of possible prejudice by a juror.

United States District Judge Burnita Shelton Matthews ordered a new trial yesterday after recalling the 12 jurors to determine the nature of remarks made by jury foreman John J. Babchak in the first trial.

Shortly after the trial got under way, Babchak told Judge Shelton that he thought he had known Kamp in Brooklyn 20 years ago. When Kamp said he never had lived in Brooklyn, the trial continued.

Defense attorneys won a new trial by noting that Babchak expressed suspicion about the earlier acquaintance even after the trial ended.

Kamp was indicted for refusing to disclose records of his organization to House lobby investigators. No date was set for the new trial.

LIAISON TEAMS TO MEET AGAIN IN TRUCE EFFORT

The 15-year-old boy was fishing in a shallow stream about half a mile north of Panmunjom on the main highway to Kaesong late Friday afternoon. His 12-year-old brother, holding their 2-year-old brother in his arms, was watching.

The oldest boy said he saw three planes and dived under a bridge, but that his two brothers were hit. The youngest was shot in the left arm.

Investigators also were told that the three North Korean soldiers walking along the road saw the planes and jumped for cover. Presumably they identified the planes for the Red high command.

While the investigators were at the bridge, the dead boy's mother arrived, carrying the injured 2-year-old in her arms. The youngster's left arm was bandaged. In his right hand he held a turnip and which he gnawed from time to time.

The aged farmer, clad in traditional white, complained that the shooting occurred in the peace conference area and that he would not have minded sacrificing his son if it had been in a war zone.

It was this harangue and the shift of the farmer's attack from the Reds to the Allies that led U.N. officers to say he had been coached overnight.

As Air Force Col. Don Darrow of Tacoma, Wash., one of the U.N. officers, was about to get into his jeep, the farmer grabbed him by the jacket and asked what would be done about the death of his son. He was led away by a North Korean officer.

With newspapermen and photographers of both sides they climbed by foot to the summit and inspected fortifications which the Reds said were sprayed by more than 140 machine-gun bullets from U.N. planes.

Chinese Col. Tsai Cheng Wen, a Red liaison officer, asked Darrow whether he had seen sufficient evidence of strafing.

Darrow replied, "yes," but quickly added he did not know how old the bullet marks and slugs were.

At the foot of the hill Darrow questioned a Korean woman and a boy. Both said they saw three planes and heard shooting about supper time Friday.

A farmer in a house at the base of the hill was told the investigators would like to talk with him. He sent back word that they would "have to come to me."

The investigators then returned to Panmunjom. Darrow asked the senior Communist liaison officer, North Korean Col. Chang Chun San, whether the Reds wanted to go ahead with Saturday's scheduled liaison meeting. Chang replied that he wanted to report to his commander on the investigation, and it was agreed to hold the meeting Sunday. The Allied liaison team then returned to U.N. command headquarters at Munsan.

The opposing sides were nearing agreement on the last few administrative differences between them when the new charge—latest in a long series—was made Friday night.

Of all the Red charges of Allied violations, the U.N. command has admitted only two.

One was that a U.N. bomber attacked the Kaesong area by mistake. The other was that a South Korean medical team mistakenly wandered into the zone last month—armed with DDT spraying guns.

FIVE CONVICTS GET AWAY SECOND TIME IN ALABAMA

WETUMPKA, Ala., Oct. 13 (UP)—Police spread a statewide alert today for five desperate convicts who were on the loose for a second time in 28 days after a mass break from the county jail last night.

State troopers and sheriff's posses quickly caught six of the 11 felons who broke through a barred, second-floor window of the brick jail here but officers said the other five slipped away.

Four of the captured men and the five fugitives who are believed to have fled upstate in stolen vehicles had been awaiting trial here for their mass break from nearby Draper State Prison last Sept. 14.

FEARS SOVIET USE OF VITAL DATA IN CONGRESS RECORDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Senator Maybank (Dem.), South Carolina, says Russia may find published records of congressional hearings a source of valuable information on strategic materials.

Maybank, who heads the Senate Banking Committee, said yesterday he personally blocked a Moscow order recently for a copy of testimony given last December on strategic materials.

He told the committee he directed that an order from the Four Continent Book Shop, New York City, on behalf of a Moscow scientific institute, be refused. In New York, Allan Markoff, manager of the book shop, said he did not recall the order, but it was "possible." He said the store handles orders, on request, from various Soviet libraries and universities.

Maybank advised Charles E. Wilson, defense mobilizer, and Wilson's top aid, Manly Fleischmann, to go over testimony they gave yesterday before his committee and edit out any strategic information. They dealt with the 1952 economic controls picture, discussing the availability or shortages expected in key materials.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

There was never a dull moment when the Hotel Jefferson's new Boulevard room was opened to the public for the first time last night. Unscheduled entertainment did not compete with the floor show—it alternated with the prepared program.

Chicago muralist Edgar Miller, who has been worrying the management by lagging in completion of his wall decorations for the place, worried management a little more yesterday when he announced his plans to keep right on painting after guests arrived.

Dance routines for the gala opening has been carefully rehearsed, and without the thought that there might be competition from a man on a ladder with a full paint brush.

Miller, however, attributed his slowness to the fact the walls were not dry enough for him to paint on. Yesterday he watched a rehearsal and decided at once he'd stay for the show. Last night he alternately watched and painted.

Furthermore, he said today, he'll be back for the next few man who came to dinner. Since he works without sketches, no one can really tell how far along those murals are.

WHOLESALE PRICE INDEX UP ANOTHER 0.1 PCT. IN WEEK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Government's Bureau of Labor Statistics says wholesale prices rose another 0.1 per cent in the week ended Tuesday.

The report by the bureau yesterday said that on Oct. 9 the index of wholesale prices reached 177.3 per cent of the 1926 average. That was 5.2 per cent above a year ago and 13 per cent higher than just before the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

Foods advanced to an index of 192.6 per cent of the 1926 average, largely because of rises in meats, raw sugar, butter and flour.

Fuels and lighting materials were 0.1 per cent higher as a result of increases in power, electricity and natural gas.

In Hollywood

Ann Blyth Seeking More Glamour Roles

By Harold Heffernan

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13.

ANN BLYTH has just cut a cake with 23 candles on it, and can look back on eight years of important Hollywood service—but, in spite of growing up, and being around all that time, she remains pretty much of a puzzle, not only to the fans, but to her producers and associates.

ANN BLYTH

Generally tagged on all sides, and with good reason, as "the nicest girl in town," Ann nevertheless has been running away recently with some of the meatiest, most sophisticated roles to be handed out. That only serves to stir more curiosity about the soft-spoken, retiring actress who crawls back in her shell after each glamorous impersonation.

★ ★ ★

IN HER SECOND PICTURE, "Mildred Pierce," made way back in 1945 with Joan Crawford, Ann appeared as the extremely beastly daughter of the star. It won for her an Academy Award nomination that year in the best supporting division.

As the years passed on, the movie bosses noticed only the sweet Blyth face, and completely forgot about what a meanie she could be on the screen. She began playing a succession of "sweet little girl next door" roles which typed her with casting directors all over town.

Also, they didn't fancy her as a singer, and that's what she really wanted to be. Ann's desire to hit the high notes dates back to her childhood, when she spent three seasons with the San Carlo Opera Company in child-singing roles.

Then, when barely in her teens, she was entertaining on New York and Newark radio stations. She was spotted by Herman Schumlin, producer of "Watch on the Rhine," and while playing the daughter's part in that play she was noticed by a film-talent scout and signed by Universal.

ANN FINALLY BROKE INTO a musical in 1949, when she did several songs with Bing Crosby in "Top o' the Morning." Bing had some nice things to say about her voice after the preview of that one, but still the actress was relegated back to the sugar-sweet types until she was cast as Dorothy Caruso opposite Mario Lanza in "The Great Caruso."

Now that she has forced a foothold into the singing ranks, Ann is equally determined to break the bugaboo of "nice girl" typing, in which she feels she made a forward step in her recent thriller, "Thunder on the Hill." Now Ann wants to show again what she can do with a more meaty, virtually vixenish, part.

That's what she has at the moment in her starring role opposite Gregory Peck in "The World in His Arms," which is being produced at her home studio, Universal-International. It is a screen version of the Rex Beach novel in which Ann portrays a hoydenish Russian countess.

"I even get to wear the lowest-cut evening gown displayed on the lot," said Annie excitedly.

★ ★ ★

STARTLING AS THIS statement may seem—coming from a gal who has heretofore been pretty fussy about the propriety of her movie wardrobe—it is no more amazing than the assertion she has just made that she expects to "see a lot more" of the dozen or so boy friends who have been prompting her to go steady during the past few years.

About marriage, the popular bachelor girl philosophizes briefly, but to the point:

"The right man just hasn't come along."

Actually, she rarely goes out more than a couple of nights a week, and sometimes not that often. When she does so she prefers a neighborhood movie to an evening at one of the Sunset strip hot spots.

★ ★ ★

THE SO-CALLED "Hollywood wolf pack" never gets a chance for a date with Ann. Men she has been seen with during the past year include handsome young Richard Long, a juvenile leading man who worked at her studio, and who joined up with the Army early in the year; actors Scott Brady and Roddy McDowell, and football player Glen Davis, who has since up and married Terry Moore. At the moment, she's getting a lot of attention from actor Richard Egan, who played a featured role with her in "The Golden Horde."

She lives serenely in the Toluca Lake district of North Hollywood with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Tobin, who have taken care of her since the death of her mother about five years ago.

Ann was born in Mount Kisco, N.Y., on Aug. 16, 1928, and her parents were separated when she was a baby. She never mentions her father, Harry Blyth, an Englishman, and of her childhood only says that her mother "worked awfully hard" to raise Ann and her older sister, Dorothy. Her mother was born Ann Lynch in Dublin, of a family renowned locally for story-telling.

All in all, the expected metamorphosis of Ann Blyth during the coming year will be an interesting event to watch.

NUNS WAIT TURN TO GIVE BLOOD

Thermometers in their mouths, Catholic nuns wait patiently to have their temperatures checked by a nurse at St. Vincent's Hospital in New York before donating blood for troops in Korea. Some 650 responded to a plea by Cardinal Francis Spellman, addressed to nuns and clerics, which is expected to enlist more than 10,000 donors in the New York area. COMEDIAN LEON ERROL DIES OF HEART ATTACK

'Rubber-Leg' Dancer of Ziegfeld Follies Fame Was 70 Years Old.

(Reprinted from yesterday's late editions.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 12 (UP)—Leon Errol, comedian and "rubber-leg" dancer of Ziegfeld Follies fame, died today of a heart attack at Good Samaritan Hospital, where he was admitted last night for a check-up. He was 70 years old.

He had a successful career as a stage comedian for 35 years, and had been in motion pictures for more than 20 years.

Born in Sydney, Australia, July 3, 1881, of English parents, he studied to be a doctor at Sydney University but dropped out of school after getting his first taste of the theater in college dramatics. His first acting engagements were with touring stock companies in his native country.

He had not yet reached his twentieth birthday when he started touring Australia. After 10 years in stock there, he went to New York and starred in such hits as "The Century Girl," "Hitchy Koo" and "Sally."

Errol made his first motion picture in 1925, and in 1930 he signed his first studio contract, with RKO. He remained with that studio until his death, the longest any movie star ever stayed with a single studio.

During most of that time, he made six two-reel pictures a year, in addition to full-length features. He teamed with the late Lupe Velez in the "Mexican Spitfire" series.

His wife, the former Stella Chatelaine, a dancer who appeared with him in the Follies for several seasons, died Nov. 7, 1946. They had been married 39 years.

Bulldozer Not Amphibious.

Harris, spreading the cinders on a lot that bordered on the edge of a drainage lake, backed up. The bank crumbled. Harris and the bulldozer plunged into eight feet of water. Harris said his employer would retrieve the $11,000 bulldozer with the aid of a steam shovel.

Scratch Sheet Laundry.

NEW YORK—At Jim Huie's Chinese laundry, police say, you can lose your shirt even if you have a ticket.

The reason, the authorities add, is that Huie takes bets as well as wash—and along with the linen sheets, he scribbles on betting sheets in Chinese.

Premium on Pennies.

DENVER—Davis Motors, Inc., advertised it would buy pennies at a premium, giving a dime for nine coppers and $1 for 90. Twenty special police were hired to handle crowds. They weren't needed—only one man showed up. He handed over nine pennies for a new dime.

"People just don't believe it," said the general manager, Jerry Alderman. "Money is the hardest thing in the world to give away."

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG U S PAT OFF

Dear Martha Carr:

RECENTLY a couple we have known for 20 years dropped us from their list. We found out the husband had been doing a lot of running around. I had known them for so long and felt so close to them that I asked the wife what the trouble was and why she has dropped us. She barely answered me so I did not pursue the matter. Later through another channel I heard that in addition to other women, I was accused of having been going with her husband. That was about the silliest thing I had ever heard, but at the same time it was serious, too. So I told my husband and he spoke to the other husband about it. This man answered cheerfully, "Well, I thought if I told my wife it was your wife I had been seeing she wouldn't take it as hard as if I admitted who it really was, we have all been friends so long." That about floored me! At the same time though I certainly don't appreciate being made the goat in this matter, I would like to help keep this couple together. I understand she still gets phone calls for her husband from a woman at their home, and each time he still insists its just me, kidding! How can I convince his wife that I have nothing to do with this man's affairs? It just happens I am very happily married, there is no other man for me and never will be.

LEMAY.

Your husband should tell this other woman's husband in no uncertain terms that he is to leave your name out of this matter and he wants to hear no more accusations regarding you, even though they may be in a so-called kidding vein. How is the man's wife to know he is kidding when he has been acting as he has? Naturally she is in a state to believe just about anything and who can blame her? Once your hsuband has asserted himself in the matter, I think the best thing will be for you to say nothing yourself, to keep away from the couple and let them work out their own salvation.

Finding Fault

By Angelo Patri

ANYBODY can find fault. It is as easy as drawing one's breath. It can so easily become a habit that one should be most careful about indulging in it. Such a habit will cost friends, breed an atmosphere of dislike and resentment, do nobody any good and many people harm.

Before pointing out a fault in someone's actions, work or attitudes, it would be well to consider whether or not it is your duty to do so. Self-appointed critics are rarely helpful and usually resented. We are not our brothers' keepers in that respect but in quite the opposite. Being another's keeper means being his friend and rarely does a friend find it necessary or wise to find fault. What he does is to encourage, praise whenever possible, build up the strength of his friend and prove his affection for him in terms of service.

★ ★ ★

PARENTS AND TEACHERS need to make this a matter of common practice and withhold fault-finding whenever possible. It is remarkable how much of a child's mistaken behavior can be overlooked with profit to all concerned. A child breaks the point off his pencil during a lesson. He either dropped it or chewed it, maybe deliberately broke it. A gesture indicating where another may be had is all that is necessary. No remarks. No hard looks. A youngster steals cookies beyond a healthy limit. They make him sick. That's a more powerful lesson than any scolding or punishment could provide.

★ ★ ★

TO SOME PEOPLE the sight of a child unleashes a spirit of fault-finding. That only makes a bad matter worse. Hold back the criticism and search for something kindly, something that will bring the child's shoulders up, tilt his head and lift his spirits. He needs that lift.

Of course he needs correction. That must be done in affection, in privacy, between two friends. Affection kindles the desire to earn it while resentment hardens the heart. Hold to the better way and arrive sooner with better grace.

The New Films

By Myles Standish

THE movie version of "A STREETCAR NAMED DESIRE," on view at the ST. LOUIS THEATER, is about as strong meat as the screen has ever seen. All the savage force, brutal realism, ruthless examination of the deterioration of an aristocratic Southern girl, grimness, sensuality, cruelty and some of the sordidness of Tennessee Williams's stage play is there. The effect is heightened by some arresting closeups of Stanley, the brutal, lusty Pole, in his animalistic vigor, his low cunning, or his explosive rage and passion, and of the haggard, desperate, nerve-shot Blanche Du Bois. Elia Kazan, who staged the play, has directed the movie with vividness and shattering force so that it mounts to tingling and sometimes nerve-wracking drama. He is handicapped by a couple of elisions and an addition made necessary by censorship, but outside of that has kept the spirit of the piece intact —a study of decadence and depravity for the sake of theatricalism.

Nevertheless, forceful as it is, I still think it loses some of the shock power of personal presence in transference to the screen; viewing the work on the stage, one felt an intimacy with the shoddy and vigorous life of Stanley and those about him in the New Orleans slum. The elimination of the fact that Blanche's young husband had killed himself because she discovered his perversion leaves that first cause for her downhill toboggan vague and confused. And having Stanley's wife suddenly leave him at the end, so that under the screen code he may be considered punished for his virtual rape of his wife's sister, is illogical. The film's gains are mobility, heightening of the shabby atmosphere of the French quarter, and accentuation of character by the iluminating, penetrating closeups.

Vivien Leigh is about as excellent as you could want as the neurotic and faded nymphomaniac Blanche, a wracked, tangled creature trying desperately to keep up her pretenses, and pitifully falling apart into a maniac. Brando gives Stanley all the animalism, callousness, and the minute realism by which he made the stage role famous. Sometimes, I think, he carries the slurring naturalism of his speech too far, so that it becomes unintelligible. Kim Hunter and Kard Malden of the Broadway cast effectively repeat their roles of Stella, Blanche's sister and Stanley's wife, and Mitch, the rough diamond whom Blanche tries to ensnare as a last hope.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

MOST bridge players are too concerned with each trick, as a separate entity, and too little concerned with planning the future play. Take declarer's first-trick play in today's deal for example.

South, dealer.

	♠K985 ♥Q7 ♦AKJ5 ♣Q43
♠J ♥J652 ♦9743 ♣10875	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠4 ♥K10983 ♦Q1062 ♣KJ6
	♠AQ107632 ♥A4 ♦8 ♣A92

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2♦	2♥
4♠	Pass	5♠	Pass
6♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

East's two-heart overcall was not a thing of beauty, and although East escaped immediate punishment in the form of a double, the significance of his bid should have given South a blueprint for the play of his six-spade contract.

West opened the deuce of hearts, and declarer promptly reached for dummy's queen! (He probably felt that there was no sense in leaving the blank queen in dummy. East covered the queen, of course, and South won with the heart ace.

Declarer laid down the spade ace, then cashed dummy's top diamonds and ruffed the diamond five in an effort to drop the queen. This was not successful, however, and time was running out on South. As a final desperate measure he played West for the club king, but this unlikely possibility did not develop, and down South went!

It was absurd to waste the heart queen on the first trick. Dummy should have played low and declarer should have won with the ace. Surely, East's bid would be bad enough if he had the two missing kings—without them, it would have been impossible. Thus, South should draw trumps, strip all the diamonds from dummy, and then throw East in by leading the heart queen. East's forced club return would give South an easy finesse.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Albert Edward Wiggam, D. Sc.

Answer to Question 1.

YES. A cross or critical word or look from one you love is like a knife in the heart. We enjoy hearing gossip about the troubles of our married neighbors, but the same troubles at home disrupt all the unity of emotions, and lower faith in oneself and lessen the hold on the other's love. It decreases our sense of personal worth (the most precious of our possessions) and punctures our feeling of importance—the deepest hurt human nature can receive.

Answer to Question 2.

No. Kurt Lewin, late eminent psychologist, said, (paraphrased): "Democracy encourages and safeguards the differences and inequalities between individuals and groups because it promises tolerance to all but the intolerant. Democracy guarantees the right of individuals and groups to be different and express their own personalities and opinions." Communism and Naziism are precisely the opposite. They make men slaves.

Answer to Question 3.

Yes, but apparently a lot of the ideas are wrong. Columbia University has published a carefully weighed map of the average New Yorker's ideas of the "West." Here are some highlights: "Indiana (my home state) was until recently an Indian Reservation!" "So you're moving to Indianapolis, I'll give you a letter to my niece in Minneapolis" (600 miles!) "He entered the Marathon Swim from Los Angeles to Hawaii." (Some swim!) "He's moving to Dallas to be near his mother in El Paso!" (500 miles!) But then no doubt us "Westerners" are just as big ignoramuses about the "East."

My Day -o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK.

TODAY I received a most interesting book about the Armenian veterans of World War II. We in this country have such diversified backgrounds that there probably could be similar books about veterans of almost every racial group in the world.

A number of these memorial war books already have been brought out, and I am happy to see each new book appear. It adds something not only to the history of the war but to the history of our country. All of us have become Americans, no matter from how far back, but we should hold fast to our interest in the countries of our origin or our ancestors' origin. This is one way to help us bridge the difficulties of world understanding that face us today.

THURSDAY was a good, stormy, "wind and rain" day and I rather enjoyed it as I walked the streets on a number of errands.

PERHAPS the Senate will not get around to confirming any of us for the General Assembly of the United Nations before Oct. 25, in which case we will all have time to do our Christmas shopping!

At one of the hearings at which the differences of opinion between Harold Stassen and Philip Jessup were being aired, Senator H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey read a letter he was sending to all of us who may be delegates to the General Assembly. I had no objection to the letter and answered it within two days, but I wondered whether such a letter was intended to cover the position we take on questions as of today or whether Senator Smith thought we could state what we would think and feel on these various subjects next week, next month, next year or 10 years from now.

There are few things that one can declare time and circumstances cannot change. For instance, it is always a virtue to be honest, no matter what the circumstances. There has long been a question as to whether there are times when men must defy the law in order to act according to conscience or whether the law must be accepted because it is the will of the majority that placed it on our statute books.

Certain great principles one can be categorical about for all time. Where opinions enter in, however, or changing conditions must be considered, it is highly unwise for people to fail to understand that circumstances and conditions must change points of view and bring about changes of attitude and action where such changes are necessary.

Take My Word for It

By Frank Colby

What's the Origin?

SALT LAKE: The word lettuce has a queer look to me. Can you give me the origin of the word?

Lettuce is traced directly to the Latin word, lactics, which means, of all things, "milk!" Lettuce is pronounced: LETT-iss; or: LETT-uss.

Franklin: Why is the flag flown at half-mast to indicate mourning, and why do we speak of the flag on any flagpole as being at "half-mast," when it isn't on a mast at all?—D.C.

Half-masting of colors is a survival from the days when lamenting the dead was characterized by slovenly appearance—loud weeping, wearing tattered old clothes and soiling them with dirt, ashes, etc. (as in the "sackcloth and ashes" mourning of Biblical times).

Because of the idea that slovenly appearance was a part of the mourning ceremonies, it was once the custom to "cockbill (disarrange)" the yards (spars) of a ship, slack off the rigging, and leave rope ends trailing to signify that the ship was in mourning for someone of importance—the king, the captain, the President.

Strictly speaking, on land a flag flies at half staff; but "half-mast" is widely used in both meanings, especially by us landlubbers who also speak of a "boat" instead of a "ship."

Kansas City: How did we get the expression "red tape," meaning "petty and tedious routine"? —M.P.

Before the days of our modern steel filing cabinets, offices followed the practice of storing documents in bundles, which were tied with red tape. When it became necessary to consult one of the papers so "filed," we may be sure that the process was tedious, lengthy, and very, very dusty. Hence, "red tape" came to have its present meaning.

Celery Is More Than Only a Relish

By Edith M. Barber

MANY of us consider celery a relish, rather than a vegetable. It is true that we use it more in raw form as a relish, or as an ingredient for salad that we do for cooking. It deserves, however, to be considered for both purposes.

I am an enthusiast for the green celery which is generally known as Pascal. It has more flavor than the white, bleached celery and even the outside stalks are crisp and tender and have few strings. For our favorite stuffed celery, we can use almost all of the stalk except the leaves. Of course, the latter from the white or green celery gives a savory touch to soups and salad. I often add finely cut raw celery to any creamed fish, meat or vegetable to which it furnishes contrast in both texture and flavor.

Occasionally I like cooked celery. If it is to be creamed, the celery should be cut into rather large dice and cooked in salted boiling water until it is tender. When the sauce is prepared, the liquor that has been poured off the vegetable should be used as part of the liquid. A little green pepper or pimiento added to the cream sauce will give color to an otherwise dish rather insipid in appearance.

Occasionally we also like to braise the celery in stock to which has been added herbs and seasoning. To prepare this, we trim and cut the whole stalk lengthwise into quarters. That is to say, if the whole bunch is firm and tight. Otherwise, we cut off the outside pieces and use these for some purpose. White celery is even better for braising than the Pascal type, as the bunches are tighter.

Creamed Celery.

One bunch celery, one and one-half cups thin cream sauce, one-fourth cup minced green pepper or pimiento grated cheese.

Trim celery and cut in one-inch pieces. Cook in small amount of boiling salted water, 10 to 15 minutes until tender, or cook two minutes in pressure saucepan. Drain celery and reserve liquor. Use with milk for cream sauce. Combine celery, sauce, green pepper or pimiento and serve sprinkled with grated cheese, if desired.

Stuffed Celery.

Use small celery hearts and seperate stalks. Cut Pascal celery stalks into two-inch lengths. Blend three-fourths cream and one-fourth roquefort or blue cheese and fill stalks. Sprinkle with paprika and chill.

Child Behavior

Different Types of Eaters

By Frances L. Ilg and Louise Bates Ames

Of the Gesell Institute of Child Development.

EACH child has a unique personality (or individuality) of his own which makes him different from every other child. Most parents recognize this fact and whether they think much about it or not, much of the time it determines what they expect of the child.

"Edgar is wonderful with other people. He just leads all the other children around by the nose and they love it," says Edgar's mother.

"Jane always wakes up cross. Nobody ever got a pleasant word out of her before lunchtime. I just leave her alone in the mornings," says Jane's mother.

We recognize such things as these as expressions of the child's basic personality and we treat him accordingly. But there are many kinds of behavior where we do not recognize and respect the differences which exist from child to child. We feel that there is a "proper" way some things should be done and that all children, whatever their personalities, should do these things properly.

★ ★ ★

TAKE FEEDING behavior, for instance. Most of us have pretty definite ideas about what, how much and how a child of a given age ought to eat. And if we have height and weight charts around we may even have definite notions of how much he ought to weigh. And if he doesn't weigh as much as the charts say he should, we figure that he obviously isn't eating enough, and try to get him to eat more.

Often our ideas about eating do not take into account the fact that different children not only desire but need different amounts and different kinds of food. What and how much they really need to eat depends on their basic individuality type. Considerable scientific study has been devoted to determining the different kinds of "eaters."

★ ★ ★

HERE ARE A FEW types of eaters which we have observed in our clinical practice:

There are, to begin with, the good hearty eaters, who are that way from the beginning; and there are the poor, finicky eaters, and usually they, too, are unfortunately that way from the beginning. There are those who eat practically any food on the menu, and there are those who will eat only the few things that they like best.

There are the quick eaters (Heaven be thanked!); and there are, alas, the slow eaters.

There are children who by preference eat only at mealtimes. There are others who are constantly eating between meals and who would actually do better, if you could arrange it, with five small meals a day instead of the usual three big ones.

Nearly all of these differences are due to basic individuality patterns in the child. They are not simply "bad habits" he has picked up from someone in the family, or "badness" or whims on his part.

You can make your own rules about how and what your child shall eat, but your rules can be carried out most effectively if they take into account the child's own appetite and food preferences.

Picking Up Decoration

By Elizabeth Hillyer

BRANCHES, weathered wood, dried weeds and grasses—they're yours for the finding, along the roadside, in the woods, perhaps in your own yard.

Use them to make last-forever winter bouquets, or to add interest to flower arrangements or leafy plantings in pots.

A gnarled and well-aged bit of wood starts an arrangement in a low bowl like that at top right. Set branches of feather-needled pine and sprigs of philodendron into a holder beside the wood.

Variety and contrast are the secrets of the handsomest winter bouquets. There's no end to the kinds and shapes of branches, leaves, seed pods and grasses to use if you've the eye to see them, and they vary in color from nearly white through many shades of cream and pale brown, gray and yellow, to russet, maroon, deep brown and black.

Combine unlike shapes and varying sizes, and light colors with the deep ones for the most striking effects.

Fix It Yourself

By Hubbard Cobb

Use of Liquid Paint Removers.

THE first step in refinishing a piece of furniture is the removal of the old finish and this little project can be either a thing of joy or a prime headache, depending on how you go about using your remover.

First of all, solvent type liquid paint and varnish removers are highly inflammable and should be used outdoors or in a well ventilated room where there is no open flame.

You get the best results from these removers by using thin coats on small areas. Allow the remover to act for five minutes or so and then remove the softened paint or varnish with a broad paint scraper.

One application of the remover is not enough. You need at least two and possibly more, depending on the number of coats of finish that have to come off. Just be sure to use light coats.

After all the finish is out of the way the piece must be wiped down with turpentine, benzine or alcohol to remove the wax left by the remover.

NORTH DAKOTA REPUBLICANS URGE TAFT TO SEEK PRESIDENCY

BISMARCK, N.D., Oct. 13 (UP) — North Dakota Republicans hopped on the Midwest "Taft for President" band wagon yesterday, sending telegrams to the Ohio Republican urging him to be a candidate.

State Chairman Milton Rue, a state Senator from Bismarck, said he and about 20 other leading Republicans in the state have sent Senator Robert A. Taft wires urging him to seek the Republican nomination next year.

Rue said most of the G.O.P. leaders urging Taft to run are members of the G.O.P. State Central Committee. He said they include members of both of the state's Republican factions — the Republican Organizing Committee and the Non-Partisan League.

RAIL EXECUTIVE KEEPS VOW TO 1913 HIGH SCHOOL CLASS

NEWTON, Ill., Oct. 13 (UP)— Frank Martin was to keep a 38-year-old promise today after fulfilling a high school prophecy that said he would someday become vice president of the Illinois Central Railroad.

Martin brought a special I.C. train here to pick up his classmates from the 1913 crop of Newton seniors and planned a dinner party in the car. When the prophecy was made years ago, Martin wasn't too confident of success, but promised his 24 classmates the dinner just in case.

Last August the 56-year-old executive made the grade after working his way through the railroad's ranks.

500,000 Cheer Elizabeth and Duke In 'Fantastic' Toronto Welcome

Royal Couple Amazed by Reception on Canadian Tour — 1,200,000 Estimated to Have Hailed Pair in Four Days.

TORONTO, Oct. 13 (AP)— Sources close to the royal couple said today Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh could hardly believe the enthusiasm of Canada's welcome, were thrilled by it and never had seen anything like it.

Veteran reporters termed the welcome for the heiress presumptive to the British throne "fantastic" and a Canadian professor of psychology called it "mass hysteria."

More than 500,000 persons turned out in this city of 700,000 to cheer Elizabeth as she and her consort moved slowly through the jammed streets yesterday. Earlier more than 200,000 persons had swarmed around the couple, waving British flags, shouting and laughing as they passed through small cities between Ottawa and Toronto.

Tour's Longest Day Thus Far.

Officials estimated more than 1,200,000 of Canada's 13,500,000 people have hailed the Princess during the first four days of her projected 30-day tour of the dominion.

Yesterday was the longest and most triumphant day of the tour thus far for the royal couple. Leaving Ottawa by train, they made several stops en route to Kingston where cadets of the Royal Military College put on their best show—a full dress review. The royal tourists arrived here in the late afternoon in a Royal Canadian Air Force plane which they boarded at Trenton, site of the R.C.A.F.'s central command station, 100 miles to the east.

Here for a 30-hour visit on their month-long tour of Canada, they were welcomed by a crowd of 5000 or so at the airport. Tens of thousands lined the 18-mile route into the city.

Crowds Slow Parade.

Elizabeth, in brown velvet, was looking her best. She and Philip began the drive into town in a convertible. The solicitous Duke wrapped his wife in a robe to protect her from the cool autumn weather. The huge crowds slowed the parade so that dusk fell and the moon came up before they reached the city.

In order not to deprive the crowds of their view, the Princess and Duke shifted to a closed car and turned on the interior lights. Some spectators complained that they couldn't see anyhow.

At least 70,000 persons were jammed into the square before the city hall where Elizabeth went to sign the visitor's register. She couldn't remember the date, and Mayor Hiram McCallum had to tell her.

Later, in a white satin evening dress, an ermine wrap and diamonds, the Princess went to dinner in the Ontario Parliament Building. The Prince wore conventional white tie and tails with decorations.

When they came out a crowd of about 5000 still waited and, in the still night, lustily sang out "God Save the King."

KELLOGG LEAVES $2,000,000 ESTATE TO HIS FOUNDATION

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 13 (UP)—W. K. Kellogg, cereal manufacturer, who died last week at 91, left a $2,000,000 estate to the philanthropic Kellogg Foundation, his will showed today.

The will, filed in probate court, said that Kellogg intentionally omitted mentioning his family because he had provided for them "adequately" before he died.

CIVITAN INTERNATIONAL HEAD HAILS WORK OF SERVICE CLUBS

The contribution of America's service clubs to the building of citizenship was discussed yesterday by Grady T. Kay of Birmingham, Ala., president of Civitan International, at a meeting sponsored by the St. Louis chapter at Hotel Statler.

Kay, who is on a national tour of Civitan chapters, said the work of service organizations is out of proportion to their numerical membership, which, he asserted, is "only a small minority of the population."

37 PCT. OF COLLEGE MEN FAIL IN DRAFT DEFERMENT TESTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (UP)— About 37 per cent of the college men who took the first student draft deferment tests failed, Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey reported today.

This means about 125,430 of the 339,000 students who took the examinations last spring and summer failed to make a passing score of 70 and probably will lose their draft deferments. Their only hope of keeping student deferments is to convince local boards that they stand high enough in their college classes to merit staying in school.

Hershey reminded the new crop of college students that new deferment tests would be given Dec. 13 and April 24. However, men who failed a previous test will not get another chance. Applications for the Dec. 13 test must be postmarked before midnight Nov. 5.

REPORTS $50 TAVERN HOLDUP

Mrs. Viola Lucich reported to police that she was robbed of $50 by an armed Negro who entered her tavern at 903 South Vandeventer avenue last night.

She said the man first asked for change and then produced a revolver. He rifled the cash register.

PERILOUS LOVE

By Anne Allison

CHAPTER 28.
(Conclusion.)

IT COULD not have been a more perfect wedding even with weeks of preparation in New York.

"You'll hear the music any minute," the stewardess said as she fussed excitedly about Karna, making final adjustments.

As she spoke the ship's orchestra broke into the familiar strains of the wedding march. The stewardess accompanied Karna to the stairway, then she walked alone across the main deck and into the lounge. Her head was high, her expression one of radiant happiness which belongs only to brides.

Passengers nodded their approval and some of the more sentimental shed a few tears. The man from Peru who had given Karna her bouquet, smiled blandly as though he were personally responsible for the whole thing.

Afterward there were congratulations and laughter.

"Well, darling, we made it!" Lynn whispered.

★ ★ ★

"I love you very much, Mrs. Lynn Jeffries."

After that first kiss she said, "Lynn where did you borrow the evening clothes? They fit you perfectly."

"I might ask the same about your dress."

"You know. You saw it at home. I brought it with me."

"And I brought my evening clothes."

"Lynn! You mean you knew I would follow you?"

"I had help on the idea," he admitted. "You see your cousin told me."

"The traitor!" But she was laughing, too.

There was a brisk knock on the door.

"What now?" Karna asked, instantly imagining some new danger.

"Shall I open it?" Lynn asked Karna.

"No," Karna sighed. "I mean of course, darling. We can't go through life avoiding the inevitable. With you for a husband I suppose I may as well get used to interruptions." But as he opened the envelope her smile was fading.

"Oh, darling, what is it?"

"Something very serious, dear! Do you know what day this is?"

"It's our wedding day," Karna said promptly.

He took her hand laughing. "Exactly. And here is our first congratulatory message from Nancy and Jean. That's not all. Read it."

"LYNN, I was so afraid for a moment. Do you suppose I'll always be that way. Every time we get a telegram? Every time the doorbell rings?"

He touched the platinum band on her finger. "We're married now, Karna. You don't have to be afraid any more."

"I know, darling. And I'm glad we are married. I was sure that something else was going to happen. I had a premonition."

"Your premonitions should be put away in mothballs with your detective instincts," Lynn said forcefully.

Karna smiled. "I'll have to admit that for once my woman's intuition was wrong. But you told me Lynn, that ours was a dangerous love. I'll never forget that.

His gray eyes searched her. "It may continue to be, Karna. Because if the government asks me to conduct another secret investigation I shall do it—even if it means giving up my private practice."

"Of course," she agreed. "That's the way I want you to feel. But, Lynn, whatever happens now, we'll be together. That's what makes everything different.

Unafraid they gazed into each other's eyes and there was a new seriousness, a new sense of responsibility in their hearts which deepened and strengthened their love.

"We'll come through," he repeated, drawing her into his arms as the Santa Ana nosed gently northward to New York.

THE END

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

ANOTHER letter about the octopus has come from a Toronto reader, E. Jervis Bloomfield. He writes:

"In regard to what you have said about the octopus, I have met these creatures in their native habitat: I have watched one capture a screaming, fighting seagull and drag it down into deep water; I have eaten their flesh, and have prepared and served it for public consumption.

"A few years ago, in a bay near Vancouver, British Columbia, a man, his wife and young son were trolling from a rowboat. A large octopus latched onto a fish which was being reeled in. The man dropped his line when he saw the octopus, but it whipped out a tentacle and started climbing the gunwale. The boat rocked dangerously. Except for the help of two nearby fishermen, there would likely have been a real tragedy. As it was, the three men were able to beat it off with oars and gaffhooks. Still alive, it dropped back into the water.

"Much of my information on these creatures came from Bill Brooks, a room mate of mine at the University of Washington. He earned his way through college by catching them for the Chinese market. The fishing grounds were along the northern coast of the Olympic peninsula. The traps were weighted barrels; dead salmon served as bait. After finishing a meal, the octopus would curl up for a sleep in the barrel, but would find himself on deck before he was properly awake.

"During wartime, on a meatless Tuesday, I tested the sale of octopus flesh which had been ground, parboiled and fried in patties on a griddle. Served on a bun, they were sold under the name of 'devilburgers.' Most customers claimed that they enjoyed the devilburgers.

"I felt that I ought to eat a real octopus meal. I did so, with the meat on buttered toast. I found it tasty, and can recommend it to those who like fried shrimp."

Thank you, Mr. Bloomfield, for your highly interesting letter. For my part, I think I shall wait quite a while before I test the taste of octopus flesh.
